Denver, Colo.—Leaping from an automobile which had drawn up alongside a federal reserve delivery wagon at the main entrance of the Denver mint, and shooting toward four federal reserve guards who were emerging from the building carrying $200,000 in $5 bills, two bandits at 10:40 Monday morning shot and probably fatally injured Charles Linton, one of the guards, seized the entire consignment of money, sprang into their motor car and escaped. The third member of the bandit group remained at the wheel of the automobile. One of the bandits is believed to have been shot while making an escape.

So quickly did the bandits work that persons in the immediate vicinity were unaware of what had happened until guard from within the mint rushed to the windows and out of the main entrance firing at the escaping highwaymen. Linton, who was assisting in guarding the currency, fell at the first shot. The bandits, described by guards at the mint who saw them, were apparently about 28 years of age. Linton had been employed by the Federal Reserve bank for many years as a guard.

HUNT IN HOSPITAL

Every policeman in Denver has been armed with riot guns and an extensive search of the hospitals of Denver and suburbs is now under way in an effort to locate the bandit who is believed to have been shot as he was entering the waiting automobile to make his escape. All roads out of Denver are being guarded and word of the holdup has been sent to all outside counties. The car bore a Colorado license number.

The money was the property of the Federal Reserve bank and was being transferred from the mint to the main bank office here for distribution to Denver, Colo., and Wyoming banks, according to R. J. Grant, director of the mint. The funds of the reserve bank are held in vaults at the mint bank because of lack of secure bank vaults in the headquarters of the bank. It is believed to the bank on instructions from the secretary of treasury. The time for the transfer of the money is very irregular according to director Grant, sometimes three or four releases being made in a week and then again no money being released over a period of two weeks.

The federal reserve delivery wagon was in charge of J. E. Olson, cashier of the Federal Reserve Bank. B. Haveron was driver of the car and the guards were Linton and J. Adams.

GET RECEIPT

As the car came to a stop, the guards removed the padlock from the door of the grated wagon and proceeded into the mint where they secured the $200,000. The money had been transferred from the custody of the mint to the Federal Reserve Bank.

If I Sharpen Knives—

BY GO-GETTER
I would point out to Appleton people that it is cheaper to sharpen knives and scissors than to replace them with new. Of course I couldn't talk to many people personally, but I wouldn't need to do that. Instead I would let a Post-Crescent Want Ad tell about my sharpening service.
I would call for and deliver knives, razor blades, scissors, saws, clippers, tools and the like. I would put my phone number in my Want Ad so that people could call me on a minute's notice.

Hungry Kids Are Shivering To Keep Their Bodies Warm

Don't Forget The Youngsters
Of Poor Families While You
Are Making Your Own Children Comfortable And Happy

Pretty cold this morning and yesterday, folks. You bundled the kids all up with mittens on their hands, scarfs and mufflers around their necks, underclothing around their bodies, before you sent them out to play or to church. You mothers put on galoshes, pulled your collars around your throats and wrapped furs around you. Even with all this clothing on you felt the cold blast. You were glad to remain in the house, and you kept the furnace going at a merry clip.

Were you thinking of those 650 poor kids in Appleton who haven't any mufflers, any mittens, any overcoats or even any underclothing while you were bundling up your own youngsters? Did you have any thought of the 200 poor families, huddled around cheerless stoves in bleak houses while you were happy in your own cheery homes? If you did think of them you couldn't resist the impulse to immediately write a check for the Good Fellows club. The few checks received, however, indicate that mighty few families thought of their unfortunate fellow citizens while they were enjoying their own good fortune.

DAVIDSON FUNERAL TO BE HELD TUESDAY

Pay Final Respects To Immigrant Boy Who Became Governor Of State

Madison—The funeral of James O. Davidson, twenty-first governor of Wisconsin who served from 1908 to 1911, will be held in Madison Tuesday afternoon at the Masonic temple. Out of honor to the former governor who for 21 years was connected with the state government, the capital building will be closed Tuesday during the services.

It is recalled how the man who was later governor of the state came to Madison from Norway in 1878, a 24-year-old immigrant boy. Soon by his activity he became village officer at Soldiers' Grove, his new home after moving from Madison. Then in 1892 he was sent to the state legislature and continued active in state affairs until 1913 when he retired as president of the state board of control.

Former Governor Davidson served as state treasurer from 1898 to 1902, and as lieutenant governor from 1902 to 1906 when he became governor on resignation of Robert M. LaFollette. After five years in that position he retired and was appointed to the state board of control.

For the past few years Mr. Davidson has been retired. He became seriously ill about three weeks ago, complaining of pains in his chest. While at the hospital pneumonia developed, and his death followed.

A large delegation from Milwaukee and surrounding cities will be in attendance at the funeral.

Honorary pall bearers at the funeral of former Governor Davidson will be Governor J. J. Blaine, Chief Justice A. J. Vinje, of the Wisconsin Supreme court, W. R. Bagley, C. C. Bennett, J. C. Harper, former Governor Francis E. McGovern, E. B. Steensland and Magnus Svenson.

DECLARE MARTIAL LAW IN POLAND

Arrest Officers Of Army Following Killing Of President

By Associated Press
Warsaw—Martial law becomes effective in Warsaw Monday by proclamation of the cabinet.

Captain Niewodowski, the crazed artist, who assassinated President Narutowicz last Saturday has been held for trial by court martial.

At his preliminary examination he declared he had acted on his own initiative in shooting the president and that he had no accomplices. The declaration of martial law has added to the sense of security felt by the people, who, with General Joseph Pilsudski established as chief of staff of the army and General Sikorski as premier, await the convening of a parliament on Wednesday for the election of a new premier. One of the first acts of Sikorski in taking the premiership was to order the arrest of several of the former soldiers of General Haller, whose influence in the army has been capitalized by the Nationalists in their opposition to General Pilsudski.

Many other persons are also in custody pending a complete investigation of the assassination. Among those detained is Colonel Modelski, once adjutant to General Haller.

FORECAST SLOW RISING TEMPERATURE ON TUESDAY

Chicago—Temperatures, lower than any previously predicted this winter in the northwest and upper lake region, were recorded Sunday night and Monday as another cold wave spread over a great portion of the United States west of the Appalachian mountains. The mercury in Chicago went to below zero for the first time this season. It was one below here early Monday.

The weather bureau reported the cold wave has a general southeasterly trend across the middle states and will be followed by a slowly rising temperature Monday for the upper and middle Mississippi region, and Tuesday for the Great Lakes region.

Have, Mont. Sunday night was gripped by 32 below weather. Other towns in the northwest registered from 4 to 28 degrees below zero.

Although the snow in the middle states partially had cleared indications were seen by forecasters of a formation of another storm center beyond the Rockies Tuesday advancing eastward.

CHIEF BUSINESS OF CABINET

Meeting In Washington Still Remote—Want Action In Europe First

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1922, by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington—President Harding and his cabinet have thus far been discussing two broad phases of the European situation: the attitude of the United States government should assume in the event that France and Great Britain request this country to mediate or arbitrate the dispute as to the amount of reparation Germany should pay, and the affirmative measures that should be taken on the initiative of America to ease the economic burdens of Europe.

The idea of an international economic conference to be held in Washington shortly after the new year begins appeals strongly to the administration which feels it will make greater headway with America public opinion in the long run if the conference is held where all the moves and all the facts can be seen at first hand.

APPEAL FOR ADVICE

But an economic conference is an ultimate and not an immediate step of this kind to an American commission, this country may undertake the task of arbitrating the dispute between France's idea of what Germany should pay and the Allied view of Germany's capacity to pay.

There is unanimity of opinion that the first piece of advice should be to get a definite agreement on the amount of German reparations. If France is willing to leave the fixing of this sum to an American commission, this country may undertake the task of arbitrating the dispute between France's idea of what Germany should pay and the Allied view of Germany's capacity to pay.

On the outcome of that issue depends something even more far-reaching, namely the floating of a loan by international bankers. There seems to be an impression abroad that the United States government can somehow sanction such a loan. This is possible, of course, but highly improbable. The cabinet didn't discuss the making of a loan by the government or even the extension to American private bankers of any thing that might be construed as a guarantee of moral support.

SANCTION ONLY

The only way the American government gets into the picture at all on the matter of foreign loans is to examine them carefully in the light of its policy of a year ago which was announced to all bankers. It required that any banker or banking firm desirous of floating a foreign loan should be as a matter of patriotic interest lay the proposition before the government so that the latter might interpose its objection.

There is no law to prevent bankers floating any kind of a loan they want to but obviously a government objection would have as much weight morally as a limitation of law.

It was proper therefore for J. P. Morgan, prime mover in the international bankers committee, to consult the Washington government, to learn if it had any objection to the revival of the proposition made a year ago whereby after a moratorium was declared on Germany's payments to help Germany meet some current obligations. Such a loan would be valueless if France and the Allied powers did not give up the so-called military sanctions provided in the treaty of Versailles or at least agree to withhold for a period of years the fulfillment of those sections of the treaty. No banker would consider for a minute the floating of a German loan if at any moment France were empowered to seize the vast resources out of which Germany hopes to develop the money to pay her obligations.

So the whole situation is interwoven in such fashion that the president has asked Ambassador Harvey to come here at once and give his viewpoint on just how desperate Europe really is and what measures seem to him from an intimate contact with Europe to be advisable.

Winter Takes Firm Grip At 11 To 20 Below

"Some say 14, some say 18," was the drift of the conversation uptown on Monday morning when pedestrians came into business places from the frigid outside. Thousands of "cold" remarks were checked up friendly greeting on the frosty air. Bells which scarcely are heard in the downtown section in ordinary weather pealed out loudly in the clear air as though they sounded nearby.

Temperature took a decided drop since Sunday morning when it was 8 degrees above zero at 5:30. At 7 o'clock Monday morning, it was 11 degrees below zero in the business district while it was 12 below on the river at the foot of John-st. At the workhouse at 7:15 it was 20 degrees below, while Kaukauna is reported to have gone down to 12 below.

WORKERS BUSY ON LEGION CAMPAIGN

Report Will Be Compiled Monday
Night Showing Number Of Members Enrolled

First reports in the membership drive of Oney Johnston post of the American Legion will be checked up at the headquarters, opposite the Sherman house Monday evening with the expectation that a large part of the quota will be obtained.

Workers were busy over the weekend in a house-to-house canvass to enroll all war veterans, although the campaign officially is scheduled Monday and Tuesday.

One of the portable voting booths has been moved to the parking square on Oneida-st. and has been converted into an office where all former service men may enroll voluntarily. A number of signs have been erected appealing to men to support the legion for the sake of its ideals and the disabled men who need their backing.

A bugler was sounding the familiar army call Saturday as a reminder to the men to place their memberships.

RUSS PLAN WOULD CLOSE BLACK SEA

Lausanne—Foreign Minister Tchitcherin of Russia proposed Monday to the Near East conference commission studying the status of the Turkish straits, a plan providing for an international board of control on which would be represented Germany, the United States, France, England, Italy and all the states bordering on the Black sea.

Actual control of the straits would under Tchitcherin's plan, be placed in charge of Turkey with the privilege of allowing warships to pass in special cases and providing they do not exceed 6,000 tons.

The Russian plan also contains the provision that three months after the adoption of the proposed regimes the contracting parties shall pass an act declaring the Black sea a closed sea except to those powers whose territory fronts upon it, even in case the regulations of the straits is modified.

PLANS FOR NEW BRIDGES HERE BY WEDNESDAY

Report Council Is Ready To Take Immediate Action
On Projects

Contemplate Steel Bridge, 40
Feet Wide, In West Side
Of City

Plans and specifications for the proposed bridges at Cherry-st. and at Lawrence-st. will be mailed Monday night from the offices of Harrington, Howard and Ash, Kansas City, bridge engineers, and are expected to arrive in Appleton in time to be presented to the common council at its meeting Wednesday evening. Taxpayers of Appleton are showing a great interest in these plans and the reported intention of the council to start building the two structures at the earliest possible time.

Until the plans arrive it will be difficult to give an accurate description of the new bridges but enough information was obtained in the city hall to obtain a fairly good idea of the two structures and their costs.

The council has been working on the bridge problem for more than two years and in that time has secured a large number of estimates on bridges at Cherry, Lawrence and Lake-sts. There has been no decided change in the plans for the Cherry project but prices have fluctuated considerably since the first estimates were made.

STEEL BRIDGE

The council contemplates a steel bridge across the Fox river with its northern terminus at the end of Cherry-st. A bridge at that point would have to be approximately 550 feet long from the top of the bluff on the north side of the river to the top of the south bluff. The structure would be 60 feet above high water. Considerable filling would be necessary to cut a street 65 of a mile long from the end of the bridge to Foster-st. This street would take in part of the western end of the golf grounds and the last 355 feet would go through Winnebago-co., outside of Appleton's city limits.

The bridge itself, according to the council plans, will be provided with a 32-foot driveway and one sidewalk, 4 feet wide, making the structure 40 feet wide, making the structure 40 feet wide.

Young Madison Attorney Slips

Companion Saved

Madison—Ellis Potter, 25, a local attorney, was drowned in Lake Mendota Sunday afternoon when he attempted to recover two ducks which had become caught in the ice of Lake Mendota about 500 feet from shore. Leslie Hatfield, 17, who went with Potter, fell through the coating of ice but managed to pull himself to safety.

Potter with a party of friends had gone duck hunting in the morning and soon noticed two birds apparently frozen in the newly formed ice. He started out to recover them and when far out from shore fell through into the water. He did not reappear again and was drowned while his friends sought to lead aid.

The body was recovered by the Dane-co. sheriff and assistants.

SUMMON JURY IN FICKEL WILL CASE

A jury has been called in the case of George W. Lausman, administrator of the estate of Wilhelm Fickel, deceased, versus William Fickel and wife, which is to be tried in municipal court next Thursday. The plaintiff has through his attorneys, Lonsdorf & Stadel and Fred V. Heinemann, brought action in order to recover $541.66 which they say the defendants owe the estate. A transfer of money for that amount is said to have occurred between the decedent and the defendants sometime between June 6, 1919 and Feb. 20, 1921, the date of the woman's death. Attorneys Morgan & Johns, representing the defendant, deny the allegations and ask that the complaint be dismissed.

Reid Dying; Dope Orgies Are Denied

By Associated Press
Los Angeles, Calif.—Wallace Reid, motion picture star is on the verge of death.

Several days has not been expected to live, according to Mrs. Wallace Reid, (Dorothy Davenport) in an interview Monday in the Los Angeles Examiner given at Hollywood Sanatorium.

One of the physicians, according to the Examiner, corroborated Mrs. Reid's statements, saying:

"Mr. Reid has been near death for the past five days. His temperature has repeatedly reached 103 and his pulse 120. His heart action is irregular and weak. He has fainted on an average of three times daily and has lost 70 pounds in weight. Indications are that he is suffering either from a complete convulsive condition or from influenza."

DOCTOR'S STATEMENT

The physician, describing the actor's illness according to the Examiner, said:

"His present illness has no connection with over indulgence in alcohol or narcotics, although such indulgence have undoubtedly undermined his strength and system in months gone by."

REID WEEPS

Mrs. Reid, in describing his condition just before the present breakdown said that he went and said:

"How did I happen to let myself go? Why couldn't I have stopped long ago? I thought I was so strong; I thought I knew myself so well, I can't understand it."

Indignant denials of published reports of "orgies" in the Reid home were made by Mrs. Alice Davenport, mother-in-law of the actor, to whom those reports had been credited.

Will H. Hays, directing head of the organized motion picture industry, commenting on the actor's illness, said:

"If Reid's condition is a result of indulgence in narcotics, as has been reported it is a matter to be prayed over. The poor boy should be dealt with as a diseased person—not to be censured, shunned. Rather let us all sympathetically try to help him, try to restore him to health."

The captain's boat has not been accounted for, but the other, after drifting several hours in the storm finally was blown ashore on the Ontario mainland, 55 miles north of Duluth.

BULLETIN

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—Twenty-three of the 27 persons who have been missing since the tug Reliance struck on the rocks off Lizard Island have been saved, according to reports from the tug Grey which reached the wreck Monday.

Collage—Battling foot by foot through towering seas and freezing spray, the men who go down to the sea in ships are fighting an epochal battle, across the icy wastes of Lake Superior to keep navigation open far beyond its usual time and bring in cargo of the year.

Already the fight has claimed its toll of lives, and before the last ship has been accounted for—or been given up for lost—that toll may be greatly increased. Nearly a dozen died a few days ago when a Canadian steamer was dashed to pieces within a stone's throw of safety at the mouth of the Portage lake ship canal.

Sunday night 27 more were added to the probable death toll when survivors of the tug Reliance, wrecked last Wednesday on Lizard island, reached Sault Ste. Marie after almost incredible hardships.

PROLONG SEASON

Navigation on the upper lakes usually closes Dec. 1. This year it was decided to keep the waterways open until Dec. 15, because the coal and rail strikes had cut down the coal shipped Northwest and delayed the movement of grain east.

As a result nine big freighters loaded with grain $25,000,000 worth of ships and cargo are fighting their way down Lake Superior toward that graveyard of gallant vessels, White Fish Bay, trying to win through Buffalo for winter storage. In Mud lake, part of the St. Marys river, another big fleet is icebound, waiting for the arrival of the time which left Port Williams, Ont., three days ago before trying with the assistance of ice-breaking tugs, to win past Delmar to the open waters of Lake Huron.

MAILERS SWAMP POSTOFFICE WITH GIFT PACKAGES

Extra Facilities And Trucks Put Into Service For Annual Rush

Mailing of Christmas parcels, which began last week hit its proper stride Monday morning. City letter carriers were buried to their necks with letters and small parcels, while the regular parcel post trucks were loaded to capacity.

Local postal authorities say that it has been necessary to remove the parcel post from the main floor to the basement, where it is beginning to stack up. An extra delivery truck will have to be added soon.

Extra help was placed at the disposal of the patrons of the service windows Monday morning. An extra stamp window has been opened, while two parcel post windows will receive the heavy mail deposits. Insuring of parcels will be transacted at the money order department.

Rural carriers have the advantage up to now of one day over last year in the matter of using their automobiles. Last year at this time the horses had to be put into service. Carriers are hoping that they will be able to use the automobiles until the day after Christmas. Rural patrons can cooperate with the carriers by waiting at the box with their parcels to be mailed, the mailmen say. By doing so much delay will be saved. The carriers also may have insured parcels for patrons that will require signing a receipt.

SEND 50 RADIOGRAMS FOR APPLETON FOLKS

Fifty Christmas messages, for delivery anywhere in the western hemisphere, will be broadcasted this week by the Langstadt-Meyer Co. for Appleton people. The messages will be sent by Dallas Jensen, an amateur who has done a lot of experimental work with his station. His call number is 2EHQ.

All messages must be limited to 15 words. Dispatches will be received at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Langstadt-Meyer store and only the first 50 will be accepted.

Radio stations nearest to the persons addresses will pick up the messages and they will be relayed by person or by mail to the people for whom they are intended. Arrangements have been made with amateur radio sets in all parts of the western world to relay the messages as part of a general scheme of sending Christmas greetings.

Miss Edith Ames, North-st., has the distinction of being the first Appleton person to take advantage of this offer. She submitted a message which will be sent to Honolulu.

clothing, your overcoats, heavy cap and everything else that makes for comfort, you ought to visit some of the homes on the lists of the five co-operating charities of your city. Then you would know what it is to be cold. Can you imagine kids from two to fourteen years old, wearing shoes with the soles worn through, thin, torn cotton stockings, cotton dresses with the thinnest and most ragged underclothing underneath, without coats, without mittens and often without caps, trying to keep warm when the thermometer registers 10 below zero. Some of these kids never had an overcoat and they are strangers to warm underclothing. Maybe you felt a few stray breezes in your comfortable home Sunday evening. Did it make you think of the blasts blowing through the hovels that some of our poor families call home? Maybe you had a little shiver when someone opened a door and let in a breath of cold air. You ought to be in some of the homes that I know about. You don't know what it is to be cold. Why, folks, your house would be warm if you left your front door open all night long with some of these hives which your own fellow citizens—your neighbors—call home.

GIVE THEM CLOTHING

It isn't the purpose of the Good Fellows club to build homes for these poor or even to repair the houses they live in. The Good Fellows club wants to raise enough money to furnish warm clothing for these people to give them enough to eat so they have ambition to move around and keep themselves warm that way. You know how the cold chills you to your bones when you go out of the house in the morning before you eat breakfast. Well, that's the way lots of these kids feel all day, cold, chilled and shivering. It is a shame that this is true but the condition is here and it is up to the Good Fellows of Appleton to do what they can to help them. Permanent remedy of the situation is what is needed but until another Solomon finds away to do it the best we can do is to call upon the Good Fellows to provide temporary relief.

Even $1,500 won't go far in helping out a situation like this, but it will help. Just a few dollars over $300 has been contributed thus far a mere drop in the bucket. At least $1,200 more is needed. That's a lot of money to be raised in five days but it can be done if the Good Fellows get busy now.

Just one more thought. Not less than three dozen persons called the Post-Crescent office Monday inquiring for the address of the family whose condition was described on Saturday. Most of the people wanted to help them. If that story has touched your heart so much that you want to help, then please remember there are a lot more people in Appleton whose condition is just as desperate as the one described. You can make your charity most effective by sending your contribution to the Good Fellows club thereby insuring judicious spending of your money where it is most needed. That will eliminate the possibility that one poor family will receive more than it needs while others are left to suffer.

Now, folks, if you want to make Christmas happier for yourselves and for those who cannot help themselves, fill out the coupon on this page and send it with your contribution to the Good Fellows Club editor. Don't base your contribution on what someone else gives. Your own heart and your pocketbook should be your guide. Act now or it will be too late.
BE A GOOD FELLOW.

GREAT CROWD IS HELD SPELLBOUND BY FINE PAGEANT

Combined Choirs Present Wonderful Program in Chapel
—Repeat Tonight

A capacity crowd listened with feeling Sunday afternoon to the "Pageant of the Nativity" presented in Lawrence Memorial chapel by the United choir and soloists of the Congregational and First Methodist churches. When the pageant opened there was very little standing room left.

Carl McKee opened the first scene telling in two songs the ancient prophecy of the coming of the Lord. The entrance and songs were given in an impressive style and made a beautiful opening. Miss Edith Place, the song was well rendered as to quality of voice and manner. In the "Advent" the chorus work by the united choir was well given and the solos by Miss Dorcas Jacka and Miss Marion Hutchinson were very pleasingly presented. The soloists in the "Annunciation" were Miss Jacka and given in his usual rich tenor and was Miss Margaret Austin who told first of the sending of the Angel Gabriel and then the song to Mary.

The "Infant Jesus" sung by Ellsworth Stiles as a carol interlude was exceptionally well received by the audience.

IMPRESSIVE SCENE

The scene on the plains of Bethlehem was impressive as the shepherds filled in and listened enraptured to the story told by Marjorie Davis as a young shepherd and Isabel Wilcox as an old shepherd. The chorus and solo work in this scene held the listeners to the close and the acting was equally as good as the singing. The Angel chorus behind the scenes was unusually clear and beautiful.

The second carol interlude "Holy Night," sung by John Phillips was among the best solo numbers on the program as Mr. Phillips has a rich clear voice and sang in a simple convincing manner.

The scene portraying the "Caravan of the Magi" with Dean Carl Waterman as Balthasar, John Phillips as Melchior and Alpheus Triggs as Gaspar was probably the most effective scene both in singing and costuming. Mrs. H. W. Meyer in her presentation of the simple song "Away in a Manger" was beautifully and clearly rendered and opened the way effectively for the manger scene in which Miss Marion Hutchinson as Mary did more than justice to the picture and the soft, clear tones with which she sang the old song "Sleep, Holy Babe" was most appealing.

The final chorus "Adeste Fideles"

WATER MAIN UNDER RIVER GIVES WAY

A broken water main extending through Fox river at John-st bridge by the entire group of singers gave a splendid ending to a stupendous program to which it is impossible to do justice in a review.

The pageant as given this year has more student soloists than before; several of them has not appeared before in solo parts in pageants. The costumes were in every case characteristic of the parts and aided greatly to the beauty of the scenes. The costumes of the three wise men were possibly the most effective.

The pageant will be repeated Tuesday evening for the benefit of those who were not able to see the performance Sunday afternoon. It will start at 8 o'clock in Lawrence Memorial chapel and upon second appearance will without doubt be still more appealing than at the first performance.

has deprived about eight consumers in the lower Fourth ward besides Interlaka Pulp and Paper company of their supply of city water. The main, which is a six-inch cast iron pipe, began giving away about Sunday noon.

The break is not likely to have been caused by the cold weather, according to Fred Morris, secretary of the water commission. It is possible, he said, to have been caused by rocks that were forced against the pipe by the current. Department employees expect to have the break repaired by Monday evening. Repairs of this kind are made after first building a coffer dam and then pumping the water out of it.

"ENTER MADAME"

"Enter Madame" is a brilliant comedy, smart in its lines, exciting in its situations, novel in its theme, and tender in its pathos. It satisfies a desire that most people have—a curiosity to know how those of the stage live in their own homes, away from the glittering splendor of the theatre, with its lights and flowers and its shallow emotions. It shows how a successful American business man cracks under the strain of serving merely as his talented wife's husband. It shows his revolt—only a temporary one, however—and his ultimate return to the charming woman whose brilliance has become a necessary adjunct to his own happiness.

People, Sobered By Lack Of Postwar Prosperity, Turn Back To Churchgoing

Pastors Find Milwaukee Leader's Experience True As To Growth In Church Attendance And Membership

Pastors of Appleton churches find people turning back to religion and readily confirm the statement of Dr. F. G. Behner at a recent meeting of the Milwaukee Federation of Churches that attendance is nearing the normal average of the period before the war. Membership also is showing an increase, it was found.

Almost all denominations found people forgetting the church in the period immediately after the war when a wave of prosperity swept over the country. The situation seemed to bear out well the declaration of Dr. Behner that "church attendance is one of the surest indications of the state of the human mind." However, with the church today covering almost every field of religious education and social service, it is found so indispensable that people again are finding the need of its contact.

BAPTISTS GAIN

The Rev. A. L. McMillan, Baptist pastor, states that throughout the entire country Baptist churches have improved in regular church attendance, during the last years and report an unusually large increase in membership. This condition is especially true in the south although it is being felt to some extent in the north. The Rev. Mr. McMillan said the drop in attendance after the war was very noticeable, especially because of the exceptional attendance during the war. It seemed people realized during the progress of the war that life really was a very small and easily extinguished thing, and thus turned to the church for consolation. After the war in the glory of victory and the period of reconstruction always following a war, indifference predominated and a general lack of moral and spiritual things began to prevail. Now people are commencing to see the effect of careless ideals and standards and are seeking the church. Although the Rev. Mr. McMillan has not been in Appleton long he notices an improvement in the local church.

The Rev. Mesgr. W. J. Fitzmaurice, pastor of St. Mary Catholic church, stated the church attendance as he has observed it is as good if not better than it has ever been. During the three years after the war when many churches were noticing a lack of interest and small attendance, Father Fitzmaurice said it did not affect his church at all. The war rather had a good effect on his people for it made them more serious-minded. The war struck them forcibly and made them realize more fully the insignificance of life and the value of spiritual matters. According to Father Fitzmaurice there is a growing spirit of worldliness and a general seeking for applause.

SEES IMPROVEMENT

Is it possible to consider church attendance from the standpoint of normalcy? was the question raised by the Rev. Paul Keicher of All Saints Episcopal church. He said there could hardly be a norm for church attendance. Nevertheless he stated there had been a big decrease after the war and a general lowering of moral and spiritual things as is a natural postwar condition. The local Episcopal church, according to the Rev. Mr. Keicher is in a much better condition than it was a year ago. He was not here through the greater part of the period of reconstruction and could not say to what extent or cause. Membership in Episcopal churches has increased to a large extent generally.

The Rev. Theodore Marth, pastor of Zion Lutheran church stated that attendance in the Lutheran churches has been good and there was not the change found in many denominations. He said that during the war an exceptionally large number took their place at the communion table. The Rev. Mr. Marth in speaking about the attitude of people at present said he sensed a great improvement in as much as they seem to be getting away from a spirit of hatred. A more brotherly feeling is prevailing between one another and for those of other nations.

MORE INTEREST

The Presbyterian church in Appleton, according to the Rev. E. W. Wright, is much better than it was when he came about a year ago and he notices an increased willingness to get behind, so to speak, and push the work of the church. He says the demoralization from war conditions is passing away and people are settling down. Even in the colleges and universities he feels a renewal of interest in studies and scholarship. He states that in the Presbyterian churches throughout the country there has been a notable increase in membership and everywhere, in his opinion, people seem to be thrusting aside a jesting attitude and getting down to business, especially in the case of national matters.

DIPHTHERIA IS WANING IN CITY

No new cases of diphtheria have been reported in the city and two families were released from quarantine on Monday. Dr. William C. Patton took 25 cultures on Monday which were sent to Madison. Persons whose cultures are found to be negative will be released in a few days. It is expected that several families will be released before Christmas.

That a war always is brutalizing was the statement made by Dr. H. E. Peabody, pastor of the First Congregational church, who said that after every war there is always a decline of the humane and spiritual, when everyone suffers. During that decline less attention is paid to religious matters and a lower standard of morals and spiritual life prevails. People are again seeking the church without a doubt, he said. The Congregational churches throughout the country have had a large increase in membership within the last year.

RUSSIAN DISARMAMENT

Curiously enough it is not any of the allies, but the military power that the allies fear most, which takes the first practical step toward land disarmament in Europe. The Soviet Russian government, at the peace conference it called in Moscow, has proposed reduction of armies and has agreed to cut its own forces to 600,000 on condition that Poland and its other western neighbors make corresponding reductions. That means a cut of about 50 per cent.

Poland, strongest of the border states, agrees to reduce its army to 280,000, which surely ought to be enough for that small, struggling, poverty-stricken republic. The whole plan seems to be based on a policy of military balance of power between Soviet Russia on one side and on the other, the group of little nations held together by common fear of Russia.

This plan is fair enough, and will make a good start if carried out honestly, benefiting the nations concerned, lessening the chances of war and setting an example to the powers farther west.

It is noticeable that the motive actuating the Moscow peace conference is not so much a love of peace for its own sake as a desire to save expenses. That was true also of the Washington disarmament conference. People generally everywhere are sick of war. A few perhaps still thrill at the thought of war, and national and racial hatreds still give it a false glamour. But there is no glamor about paying heavy taxes; wherefore disarmament will come gradually but surely.

LETTERS TO SANTA

Very few letters addressed to Santa Claus are being received at the Dead Letter office this year. Postmasters have been authorized to turn such missives over to responsible charitable organizations or individuals who will pay due heed to the pleas they contain.

People who think it is all wrong to encourage children to believe in Santa Claus will find arguments for their side in the situation. People who take a contrary view will find better arguments for theirs.

Santa Claus as a physical being, his reindeer, his sleigh and his workshop at the North Pole may be as mythical as the realists declare. But Santa Claus, the spirit of kindness and generosity, certainly does exist, and children may well have faith in him. Every little letter dropped into the post box with confidence, and answered without any compulsion by an understanding heart, proves it.

COURTROOM EFFICIENCY

In the murder case now on trial at Marion, Ill., for killings perpetrated in last summer's massacre at the Herrin coal mines, it took exactly one month to obtain a jury. Every prospective juror was fought over as if he himself were on trial, and the number of talesmen called ran into the hundreds. It is a familiar picture, the rule rather than the exception in important American lawsuits. But it is not necessarily the only way. Consider the sensational damage suit brought against the governor of Mississippi by a statehouse stenographer. There was a case involving $100,000 damages and the reputation of the governor of a great state.

The trial opened in the little town of Oxford. Judge Holmes announced that he himself would examine the prospective jurors. He addressed the 36 men as follows: "I presume all of you have read the papers, but I ask if any of you are biased or prejudiced in any way." That wholesale query resulted in the excusing of three. Then the counsel for plaintiff and defendant took turns in challenging one man at a time until the original 36 were reduced to 12. Thereupon the 12 were sworn in and the trial proper began.

The whole business of getting that jury occupied one hour. By lunch time the attorneys' opening statements had been made. Then the taking of testimony went ahead just as expeditiously. It is a refreshing contrast. That is the way they usually conduct trials in England, and the way trials used to be conducted in this country. It will be a better day for the administration of justice in America when our court procedure in general gets back to such basic simplicity and efficiency.

MURDER IN AMERICA

Serious thought about the murder rate is invited by figures given out by an insurance statistician. Studying 28 representative American cities, he finds that the rate was increasing before the war, increasing during the war, and is still increasing. From 1911 to 1915 there were 8.1 murders per 100,000 people. In 1921 there were 9.3 per 100,000.

He does not find that murder is especially characteristic of any section or of industrial communities or of so-called inferior races or of immigrants. It seems, in some incomprehensible way, to be characteristic of the nation as a whole. In no other civilized country is there so high a murder rate. If more murders occur here among the foreign-born than among the native-born, it must be asked why people of those nationalities should do more killing in America than they do at home.

It is a strange fact that this America, so enlightened, so tender-hearted and prompt to relieve suffering should appear so callous to the most serious of crimes. It is no answer to say that so many murders are committed because the murderers are not brought to justice. Why are the murderers not brought to justice? Is there not the same tolerance, different in degree rather than quality, in the hearts of those who murder and the hearts of those who let murderers go free? And why does that tolerance exist?

One thing is certain. Those who preach hatred or justify the right to hate, in any form, are not decreasing the murder rate.

IMMIGRANT LABOR

It is noticeable that the demand now being made for immigrant labor comes mainly from those who in the past have profited most from such labor. That is to say, it comes mainly from the large employers of unskilled labor, who have found in the raw immigrant their most advantageous recruit.

If this demand goes unheeded by the majority of Americans, it is largely because most of the employers referred to, while utilizing the immigrant for their own purposes, have accepted so little moral or civic responsibility for him. They have often herded him, whether by chance or preference or necessity, in colonies where living conditions were un-American, and where he had little opportunity to learn the language, ways and spirit of the country. They have made progress for him all the harder by the long hours often required of him. How is a foreigner working 10 or 12 hours a day, perhaps seven days a week, in a steel mill or a factory, going to become a good American?

As matters stand, the large employers stand accused of having dumped on the country too vast a quantity of alien material for it to Americanize. It is no time to bring on a renewal of the process.

MEN FOR HOT SEVORK

Dr. Sloan Chesler of London steps into the limelight with a highly delectable scheme for rearranging the duties of the sexes. Woman having toiled through the centuries as the natural scullery maids of the family, the doctor is for turning the tables, and giving the men an opportunity to exercise their native talents at polishing the kitchen stove and giving the canary his bath. The ladies, says the doctor, should fill the pulpit as preachers and follow the professions of medicine and nursing, while the men should train their scintillating intellects on the thrilling chores of cleaning house and conducting the evening meal.

Although the doctor is a lady, this novel idea is no deep-seated scheme of revenge. She gives as her reason that men are more fitted for these unlifting tasks, by virtue of their greater strength and because they are so much more competent. We strongly suspect that the doctor is married and that she has kissed the blarney stone. She probably has a husband whom she jolles in this fashion into doing all the housework and, it having worked so well in her case, she is willing to let the suffering sisterhood take the world over into the secret. At that, it is an excellent plan, and an obliging government having taught the present crop of eligible young men to scrub, peel potatoes and mend their clothes properly, through the medium of army training, there is no reason why the present-day bride should be burdened with repellent tasks if she follows the doctor's prescription and feeds the brute a few full-size compliments. —LOS ANGELES TIMES

LOW DENSITY AND THAT FAT FEELING

All mankind may be roughly divided into the fat and the lean. The lean may cavalierly thrust to one side. The fat may be subdivided into several groups:

1. Fat folks.
2. Women who tire of searching for the shoe horn to get into their clothes with.
3. Men of 30 upwards who mistake incipient obesity for health plus or dignity or something.
4. Persons endowed with a faulty ductless gland equipment.
5. Overnourished invalids.
6. Gasoline hounds. Well tired but never honest.

The first and sixth subdivisions are not identical though similar. Fat folks, proper, if fat can be deemed at all proper, are by reason of their extraordinary skill and endurance in gastronomic feats. Gas hounds are fat and shining marks for high blood pressure because they seldom walk to work. A gas hound would board the "machine" to go out to the woodshed for an armful of kindlings.

Subdivision 2 includes a majority of the good-looking.

No woman under 40 who is not more than 10 per cent over the average stripped weight for women of her age and height should ever risk her good looks, to say nothing of her health, by attempting to reduce. I hope 10,000 more or less lovely women who have asked me to help them make this wicked attempt and met with a cold refusal will read this and understand.

Subdivision 3, the dignified men, though flabby enough, heaven knows, are nevertheless hard as nails to teach health. At 15 or 16 we know harder than our parents; at 30 we know more than our doctors. These funny dignified chaps, just commencing corporations, think the preaching that people eat too much is nonsense. They look at themselves and know it is nonsense, and then next week they have a "nervous breakdown" or appendix or nephritis—from the "strain of business life." They're as funny as little red wagons, these subdivision three fellows. They think daily exercise is all right enough for some people, but not at all essential for hard headed business men.

Persons in subdivision 4 are individual problems to be solved by their respective medical advisers. Not included in any of these classes because they are really not fat, are those who have the fat feeling. A flabby, inefficient, almost a guilty feeling, it is truly a fatuous feeling. Such persons have sufficient muscle tissue and a superfluity of slacker tissue. Their specific gravity or density is low. Reasonable daily exercise is all they need.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Diphtheria Carrier

My boy, aged 11, has had diphtheria and they have kept the house placarded four weeks. They say the cultures are still bad. The boy has been perfectly well for three weeks and it makes me very bitter. The doctor himself says my boy is well, but he refuses to certify that to the health department. Today they put a white sign saying "the boy is a carrier. They say the health department always keeps a sign up six weeks anyway." —MRS. N. C.

Answer—Perhaps your boy caught diphtheria from playmate or schoolmate who was a carrier, but had escaped the attention of the health authorities. If the throat cultures show that your boy still has diphtheria germs in his throat, he would possibly give diphtheria to many children if he were permitted to get out and return to school now. You would not want that to happen. The health department would much rather not have the sign on your door, but takes the position that it would be unsafe not to warn the public of the risk of infection from a known carrier of diphtheria germs. In some cases removal or X-ray treatment of the tonsils is necessary to eradicate the carrier state.

Warts

Please tell me how to get rid of warts.—H. H. V.
Answer—Warts often come and go without known cause. That accounts for the innumerable "sore cures" for warts. Sometimes painting wart and skin around it for an inch, once a week, with tincture of iodine, is effective. Sometimes touching the wart daily with castor oil is effective. The familiar corn remedy—a solution of 30 grains of salicylic acid in half an ounce of flexible collodion—often proves as effective for warts as it is for corns, painted on once a day. Warts about the face are best removed by the surgeon. Caustics and acids should not be applied to warts, for they are dangerous and commonly fail.

A Resume of American Newspaper Opinion.

PROGRESSIVE BLOC'S AMENDMENT REGARDING AN IMPORTANT ISSUE

Abolition of the Electoral College and advancement of the date of inauguration and the convening of a newly elected Congress, matters "long discussed in an academic manner," have "suddenly" assumed the aspect of an issue, the WASHINGTON STAR (Ind.) says, in the favorable report by a Senate Committee, at the instance of the so-called progressive bloc, of a constitutional amendment embracing these changes.

As to the second proposition, what one writer calls "the case against the American interregnum" is presented by practically all of the papers, few editors indeed defending the present method. The proposal to change election procedure, however, brings forth a more evenly divided debate.

There is, as always, some protest against "tinkering with the Constitution" at all, on the part of the SPRINGFIELD UNION (Rep.), and the ST. LOUIS GLOBE DEMOCRAT (Rep.), for instance, but to this attitude the CHICAGO TRIBUNE (Ind. Rep.) replies that "these proposed changes do not reflect a restless and unwise desire to remake the United States Constitution. They deal with antiquities."

Of the more popular of the two schemes, the "COLUMBIA RECORD" (Dem.) says it is merely a "movement" to make the "lame duck" an extinct species in Congress. It is "absurd," the NEW YORK POST (Ind.) avers, "that a Congress elected in November of one year should have to wait till December of the following year before it begins operations, and the proposal to do away with this survival from the stage coach era" holds "intrinsic merit," since, as the SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN (Ind.) suggests, it is "like taking the elevator instead of walking up 36 stories." In conditions such as exist today, the BALTIMORE SUN (Ind. Dem.) contends, "when a new spirit of responsiveness to public opinion on the part of Congress is the urgent demand of the hour," its opponents will be hard put to find any logical objection" to the proposed change of date.

Nevertheless "there is another and an important side to the plan," argues the CINCINNATI ENQUIRER (Dem.), in upholding the President's objection to the proposal. "There are good reasons," as the ST. JOSEPH NEWS PRESS (Ind.) sees it, "why a set of newly elected officials, fresh from the inflaming influences of a political campaign, should have an interval in which to cool off and get their bearings before assuming seats of power," and in the opinion of the Indianapolis Interregnum "the proposal is a shock absorber." The WATERLOO TRIBUNE (Ind.) agrees that "hasty judgment may result from almost immediate service after election. Legislation may be enacted, on the spur of the moment, that would hardly fit the situation afterward." What would have happened, the NEW YORK TIMES (Ind. Dem.) asks, "if the Sixty-seventh Congress instead of the Seventy-seventh were now in session? A lot of miscellaneous 'wild colts' who have had no time to clarify their ideas or policies would have got to work and in confusion, the law given by the Constitution is an opportunity for reflection. The first drunkenness of victory cools off."

But if this "cooling" period is a good thing, many writers reply, it might be argued, as the LYNNCHBURG NEWS (Dem.) suggests, "that the longer the representative of the people has to wait before beginning the task of representation the better . . . two years of waiting would even more surely promote the sobering process." Why is it necessary to assume, the CHATTANOOGA NEWS (Dem.) inquires, "that the people are in a passion when they elect upon a platform in their government? It is conceived to be impossible that they might proceed deliberately about it?" The assumption that a long period should elapse before "new men take their seats" "in order that passion may subside," the NEW YORK CALL (Sec.) declares, "is in conflict with the theory of popular control."

Indeed the system can be made to work in direct conflict with popular demand, it is pointed out. "Sometimes," says the DETROIT NEWS (Ind.), "despite an overwhelming popular repudiation, Congress proceeds to enact the very measures advocacy of which caused its defeat." In fact "there is always the incentive to the 'bad' party to the 'NEW' party," the CHICAGO TRIBUNE (Ind.) adds, "to make all the political hay possible, and to put upon the statute books as many measures in line with the policies of the outgoing party as possible, despite the fact that the people are determined to retire it." There is a "widespread consciousness that such delay is dangerous," indeed, to the BOSTON GLOBE (Ind.), "almost suicidal."

But the "progressive bloc" in the opinion of the PITTSBURGH GAZETTE TIMES (Rep.) "has spoiled a meritorious proposition by including with it the abolition of the electoral college," a position which the LOUISVILLE COURIER JOURNAL (Dem.) and others support. "Every effort to stir up popular opposition to our ingenious constitutional method of electing Presidents, which has so bravely stood every test, has been futile and barren," and the "guess of the SYRACUSE HERALD (Ind.)" "is that the Norris proposal will go the way of hundreds of others of the same import." While the Norris proposal was at first interpreted as contemplating the direct election of the President by popular vote in the mass, it has since been explained that that is not the idea. As the PHILADELPHIA INDEPENDENT (Ind.) says, "the reform aims to accomplish nothing more radical than to eliminate the Presidential

Handling Of Mail Largest U.S. Business

BY DR. HUBERT WORK

(Postmaster General, in the Christian Herald.)

Our greatest Federal business enterprise—in fact the greatest business enterprise in the world—is the Post office Department at Washington, which operates the Postal Service of the United States. It has over one hundred million shareholders—the men, women and children of the country who receive the mail—while the directors who keep the machinery moving are the more than a quarter of a million postal employees scattered from Maine to Mexico, from Florida to Alaska, and throughout our insular possessions. The vastness of the Postal Service is evidenced by what it is doing. Let me enumerate a few of these things.

Over 1,400,000 letters are mailed every hour of the twenty-four. In every day of the 365 of the year 33,600,000 letters slip into the mail box to go, some of them to the ends of the earth. More than 12,530,000 units were transported by the American Postal Service last year, besides sixty million pieces of parcel post. New York City alone sends out as many letters daily as the entire Dominion of Canada.

The revenues of the Postal Service are derived principally from the postage paid on mail matter—postage stamps, stamped envelopes, newspaper wrappers, and postal cards, as well as the revenue collected on matter of the various classes mailed without stamps. Revenue is also derived from the sale of money orders, and the registry and postal savings systems, and from box rents. In round numbers there were sold during the fiscal year 1921 at the post offices throughout the country: 14,000,000,000 adhesive postage stamps; 6,000,000 special delivery stamps; 1,000,000,000 postal cards; 2,700,000,000 stamped envelopes; 175,000,000 documentary stamps; 75,000,000 newspaper wrappers; 500,000,000 proprietary stamps; besides the 57,000,000 postage due stamps used on short-paid mail matter. In all, there were issued 19,000,000,000 stamps.

electors. Each state would cast its vote for President and Vice-President, instead of for as many electors as there are Representatives in Congress plus the two Senators." But the BULLETIN is convinced that "the general public will see in this proposal practically no difference or disposition, certainly none to justify the Constitutional amendment." The DI-RHAM SUN (Ind.) finds it another method of "the popular vote myth," in which "the practice sought is still the domination by minority." As the GRAND RAPIDS HERALD (Rep.) explains it, throwing the election into the House of Representatives "would take the White House farther from the people," not bring it closer.

But "the whole tendency of governmental thought in this country," says the ASHEVILLE TIMES (Ind.), "has been in the direction of popular election of all officials, and the abolition of the electoral college," and, continues the CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR (Ind.), along the same line, "as a system of registering the will of the people the electoral college is a device which is today open to very justifiable criticism." The DULUTH HERALD (Ind.) declares it to be "an empty survival of a thought of the fathers that never worked out," and "it would be no great change if the fiction were removed and what is actually the fact were made legally and formally the fact." "Why not place this curious and antiquated piece of machinery?" asks the BUFFALO NEWS (Rep.) "there is no good reason why the President and the Vice-President should not be elected by the direct vote of the people."

BOLSHEVIST INFLUENCE IN TURKEY VERY STRONG

London.—The political correspondent of the Times says:

Those who see in the present events in the Near East the results of past blunders of our Government, the failure of Greece to hold Turkish territory wrongfully seized, the triumph of Turkish Nationalism, the consequence of Allied jealousy, see some of the factors undoubtedly present, but if they see no more they fall utterly to realize the great danger which lies before the world and to perceive the real protagonists in the struggle.

Angora has succeeded in defeating Greece first and chiefly through the moral and material support of Bolshevik Russia. Two years ago the first treaty between Moscow and Angora was signed providing for unrestricted co-operation by all means, to achieve the restoration of Turkish territory.

Bolshevist Russia, the most deadly and implacable enemy that England has ever known, placed all her resources at the disposal of Turkey, not because she wished to restore to Turkey her national existence, but in order to succeed where the Turks had failed and to dominate the Straits and the Eastern Mediterranean. No less than eighty million roubles in gold and silver have been sent by starve-stricken Russia to the Turks. The guns, rifles, ammunition, transport captured by the Bolsheviks from Denikin and Wrangel have for the most part gone to Mustafa Kemal. The Turkish troops surrounding Chanak today are to a great extent armed with British rifles, originally sent by us to the Crimea to fight the Bolsheviks.

In the Treaty between Angora and Moscow of January 5 of this year, the text of which was published in all the Turkish and Russian papers, the 5th article bound the two Powers to decide, only after mutual agreement, their policy as regards the Straits. Moscow thus has the power to prevent Mustafa Kemal by this treaty from accepting terms it does not approve. In addition to this direct influence of Moscow is the strength of Araloff, the Soviet representative in Angora. This remarkable man has for two years been lavishing the resources of Russia in securing the support of the most influential people in Angora. The Angora Press, The Hakimiet-i Milliye and the Yeni Gun, are as much Bolshevik organs as the Izvestia or the Pravda. Half the Deputies of the Grand National Assembly are bound by interest or by persuasion to Araloff and Moscow.

It must not be forgotten that the Moscow Alliance has amply justified itself by results. While Great Britain and for a time, France have bullied and brow-beaten Turkey, Moscow has always calmed. Moscow two years ago recognized the Angora Government as the de jure Government of Turkey.

The object of Moscow is perfectly clear and has again and again been emphasized in the speeches of the Bolshevik leaders and in the Moscow Press. They would involve Great Britain in war with Turkey, and would themselves seize the occasion to attack Rumania and secure a foothold in the Balkans. Moscow is certain that a world war must follow in which Germany will join with Russia and Turkey.

There can be but one issue to such a war: the utter collapse of European civilization. That is Moscow's object now and always. She cajoles Poland to ensure her neutrality during the first blow in the South. She flirts with British and other capital to make it appear that the Ethiopian has changed his skin.

Great Britain comes late, very late, into this struggle. Again and again the opportunity has arisen to detach Turkey from Russia. In March 1921 Tahir Sami Bey personally warned the Prime Minister that sooner or later Turkey must come to the parting of the ways and when once her lot was thrown in with Bolshevism there would be no recall. Things are too grave for recriminations. The question is: Can we still detach Turkey from Russia? Today Turkey is being offered all that she ever claimed. Will she be able to accept it or is Russian influence in Angora too strong?

Mustapha Kemal himself is no doubt anxious to place Turkish policy before Russian, and that most certainly means an understanding with Great Britain. Reports from Angora show that the Bolshevik influence is as strong as ever and the cry of "Back to the Balkans" threatens to drown all others.

Even if Turkey does accept the peace conference terms the danger is only temporarily averted; we must at all costs ensure that the break between Moscow and Angora should be complete or we shall again find ourselves threatened with a Turco-Bolshevist irruption into the Balkans with Turkey and Russia safely entrenched in Eastern Thrace and able at any moment to seize and close the Straits.

GASOLINE OUSTING THE RICKSHAW

London.—Cabling from Tokio a correspondent of the Express says: The rickshaw is doomed, according to one who should know—Daisuke Akiba, largest manufacturer of rickshaws in Japan, exporter of the vehicle and heir to the business of his father, who is given credit by the Japanese for having been the inventor of the "man-pull-cart."

The late Daisuke Akiba, founder of the family business and fortune, is ranked by the Japanese public with the half-dozen great men of the Meiji era. In building up his business he was always ahead of his contemporaries, and his son, worthy of his father, is ahead today in seeing the decline of the rickshaw owing to the competition of motor vehicles and other modern methods of transport—and the coming of the baby carriage.

The height of the rickshaw's popularity and usefulness was twenty-two years ago, when 300,000 were in use, 60,000 in Tokyo alone. Now there are about 100,000 in Japan at the most, 70,000 of which are in the greatly enlarged capital city.

When Daisuke's father invented the rickshaw was a rude chair on two heavy wheels. For years it rattled over the stone or gravel roads of the city, the owners conscious of the attention he was attracting.

Improvements in the "Akiba kuruma," as it was called, were mostly made by the father and son.

The rubber tires were unpopular at first because the noise, and hence a part of the conspicuousness of the display, was eliminated, but the golasha liked it because it did not disarrange their carefully dressed hair. Now it is as perfect as a modern motor-car or a new bicycle, with pneumatic tires, waterproof top, and horn and ball bearings.

Mr. Akiba, looking for other channels to direct his enterprise and money, is of the opinion that Japanese women are no longer satisfied with their lot of being wife, mother, nurse and so on. He says, to go out more and see more, in order that they may have a broader outlook and more properly bring up their children.

Moreover he thinks that they are becoming unwilling to carry their children on their backs, in a fashion similar to that of the North American Indian. Baby-carriages are the answer, he believes, and he is planning to flood the country with these.

THE SCARECROWS

London.—According to the Morning Post the new scarecrow was a man of artistic temperament, and when he came to the Hall he laid out the extensive gardens with the utmost good taste, placing no fewer than six statues in various parts of the grounds. Said an old farmer who chanced to visit the ground during the temporary absence of the scarecrow: "I don't see the need for all these scarecrows. Why, any one of 'em' ought to frit crowd off a ten acre field."

On each burner of the gas stoves bubbled a pan of candy, while the girls lifted from stove to table where buttered pans were awaiting their rich contents.

The candy was made by the girls to be used in Christmas boxes for those people who are constantly doing nice things for the students. The girls worked enthusiastically on Sunday to make their Christmas idea a reality. The dormitory is bedecked with holiday trimmings both inside and out.

Edmund Lachman of Neenah called on friends here Sunday.

Kiddies Have Joyous Party At Womans Club

Fifteen grownups brought fifteen kiddies to Appleton Womans clubroom on Sunday afternoon for a party which turned out to be an extra fine affair for the youngsters. Games were played, the grownups told stories and then the kiddies told stories, too, and finally Santa Claus came. He brought a gift, an apple and a stick of candy for each guest and was as jolly as could be.

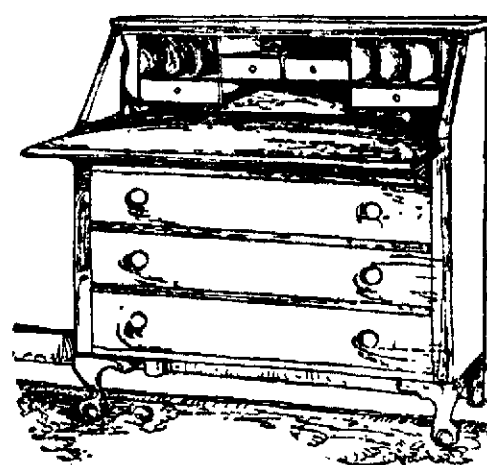

More games were played after Santa had gone on his way. The party took just two hours from 2 to 4 o'clock because a meeting of women with Dr. Winfield Scott Hall was scheduled for later in the afternoon.

RADIO PATTEN

In less than two years an invention which has been considered of revolutionary importance in the radio field has superseded its superiority to another.

That is how fast radio has been developing.

The invention is the high frequency alternator designed by Professor Ernest P. W. Alexanderson, consulting engineer of the General Electric Company. It has been this huge and complicated power plant that has made it possible to transmit radio messages with ease across the Atlantic.

Now, a simple vacuum tube has been devised which engineers say will soon replace the Alexanderson alternator. It will mean less cost and greater efficiency, they predict, in the transmission of transatlantic messages.

The Alexanderson alternator was first used in long distance transmission at the Radio Central of the Radio Corporation of America at Rocky Point, L. I. That was in August, 1921. At that time it was considered the acme of radio perfection.

SPEED AND POWER

Through it, messages at the rate of 100 words a minute could be flashed, five times faster than any speed heretofore attained. It was capable of producing a power of 200 kilowatts.

But this marvel of science was destined to give way to even greater things.

One year after its installation at Radio Central, the Alexanderson alternator is being set aside for tests made with an enlarged form of the vacuum tube. In fact, as far back as last December plans had been completed on an experimental vacuum tube for transatlantic transmission, and six months later tests were going on with it at Radio Central. Six of these tubes, each with a power of 20 kilowatts, were used in conjunction for long-distance work. Soon even these tubes became "old" and even more powerful transmitters were produced.

Today there is a 1,000,000-watt tube—with water-cooled plate—which alone is powerful enough to hurl radio signals across the ocean. It is this tube which, engineers believe, will replace the Alexanderson alternator for long-distance highspeed work. Its designers are still working on its perfection.

Will that be the ultimate step?

PREPARING FOR RECORD

The Wireless Society of Manchester is preparing to set a record in amateur transmission. It has obtained permission to erect a special transmitting station by which it will attempt to send radio messages from east to west across the Atlantic on one kilowatt of power. Commercial companies send radio messages across the ocean on a power of 200 kilowatts or more.

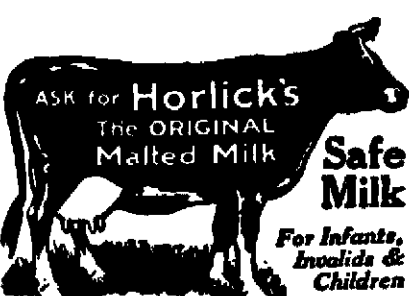

RADIO TO THE RESCUE

When land wires break down, radio comes to the rescue. This was the case on election day, when a sleet storm in the Rocky Mountain region stopped wire transmission of transcontinental messages. The messages were then sent between the radio station at Rocky Point, L. I., and that at Bolinas, near San Francisco.

Mrs. Mary J. Wells, 649 Washington st., left Friday morning for New York city where she will spend Christmas with her son, Justin C. Wells.

AWARD CONTRACT FOR DESIGNING JUNIOR SCHOOLS

CHICAGO FIRM OF ARCHITECTS WILL PREPARE DRAWINGS

Perkins, Fellows And Hamilton Believed To Be Best Qualified For The Work

Perkins, Fellows and Hamilton, Chicago, who are among the foremost school architects in the United States, will be given the contracts for designing Appleton's two junior high schools, according to action taken by a special meeting of the Appleton Board of Education Saturday afternoon.

This firm was given the preference over about 19 others, upon the recommendation of the committee on architecture, consisting of W. H. Kreis, J. H. Harbeck, A. G. Koch and Axel Fahlsrud.

The committee, it was announced, had after a careful study of the whole situation sifted the list of applicants down to seven. This was after more study narrowed down to four. These were Childs & Smith, Chicago; Joseph Royer, Chicago; N. S. Spencer & Son, Chicago, and the Perkins firm. All four are firms of a very high standard, it was pointed out, but the Perkins, Fellows & Hamilton firm is in the opinion of a majority of the committee, best qualified for the contract.

HARBECK OPPOSED
Mr. Harbeck did not sign the committee report because, he said, the committee was not yet in a position to determine accurately which of the firms was best qualified. He moved to have the chair appoint a committee of three to visit different schools where these firms have planned and which are within reach of the money Appleton has to spend. The motion received no second, however.

The other members of the board were satisfied with the recommendation of the committee, when it was made clear why this firm had been selected. Mr. Kreis, Mr. Koch and Principal Lee C. Rasev explained that while there was no difference in the cost between the four firms, Perkins, Fellows and Hamilton had a nationwide reputation as exclusive school specialists.

A contract will be prepared with the assistance of the board's attorney, F. S. Bradford, and will be entered into with the architect at a later meeting.

ON THE SCREEN

"I AM THE LAW"

Edwin Carewe has another successful screen story to his credit in "I Am the Law," which will open at the Elite tomorrow for a 3 days engagement. The story is vital, swift moving and interesting. Its scenes of the snow-covered land of the North having much beauty.

The story is of two brothers, one weak, the other strong, a protector of the weakling, even to taking on his shoulders responsibility for a murder which the other has committed. The unscrupulous had, living for pleasure alone, and caring not how he gets it, has an affair with the wife of his superior officer.

The brothers are members of the Royal Mounted Police, and when the husband discovered the liaison and has horsewhipped the boy, the latter steals his pistol from his holster, and when the man's back is turned, kills him.

He flies, but the brother goes after him, no longer a brother but "the law." They meet in the cabin of a little school teacher, where they are snowed in and the elder is taken with pneumonia, and comes almost to death's door.

To save their mother from the pangs of having a son hanged, he makes a confession that it was he who killed the sergeant.

When he is well the younger brother, who has accused him at headquarters, is sent out after him, and makes the arrest. Then when he is cornered, the truth having come out, and is about to be hanged by a mob, the boy takes poison.

The story has strength and suspense, and the play is very well acted by Kenneth Harlan and Gaston Glass as the brothers; by Alice Lake as the school teacher, Rosemary Thelby as the unfaithful wife, and the Beerys, Noah and Wallace, in subordinate roles.

BUCKLES THEM UP

At nine o'clock Friday evening I spied an extremely flapperish flapper and her more sedate chum coming from the theatre. In front of Schintz drug store they met two young "cake eaters," evidently friends of theirs. Followed a heated discussion on the correct way of wearing goloshes. The flappers' goloshes were turned down, the sedate one's neatly buckled. At last the flapper exclaimed: "Well, if you don't like 'em that way, buckle 'em up." So Cake Eater No. 1 grasped one of her ankles, jerked it to a convenient position (for him) and proceeded to buckle up the goloshes while Cake Eater No. 2 kept the wailing damsel from a certain downfall to the slippery pavement.

Sues Landlord Who Bars Children From His Homes

Special To Post-Crescent

Yonkers, N. Y.—I'm fighting to prove there's a way to force landlords to give shelter to those who prefer God's little ones to peddled pups.

That's the battle-cry of Mrs. Elizabeth Darcy, mother of five, one of the principals in the first fight under New York state's new renting law which makes it a misdemeanor for a landlord to refuse to rent a dwelling on the ground that the tenant has children.

Mrs. Darcy declares B. C. Griffin, apartment house owner, refused to rent to her when he learned of her brood of five.

Griffin denies this. He loves children, he says, but was forced to deny Mrs. Darcy occupancy because he'd already promised his premises to someone else.

Here's the background of the fight. Mrs. Darcy supports herself and children. Her invalid husband is in a hospital.

She had to move to make room for the new owner of her home, Griffin advertised for a tenant.

Mrs. Darcy says she agreed to take

Griffin's apartment and Griffin was agreeable until he heard of her children.

"When he turned me down," Mrs. Darcy says, "I couldn't help wondering what the country was coming to."

SON A VETERAN

"I had gladly seen my eldest boy enlist. He returned, bullet-scarred. I am trying to bring up my younger boys like their older brother."

"But if I can't find shelter for them, how can I convince them their country is worth sacrifice?"

"I am angry there should be in America people who would deny children the right to live. And as I know there are thousands in the same plight as I, I am going to fight this case out."

But Griffin will maintain in court Mrs. Darcy's children had nothing to do with his refusal to rent to her.

VALLEY LUTHERAN SOCIETIES LAUNCH BIG SPORT PROJECT

Athletic Activity Of All Kinds Planned At Meeting Here Sunday

Fox River Valley Lutheran Athletic association, embracing ten cities, which was temporarily organized last spring, was launched officially at a meeting in Appleton Sunday with a plan calling for one of the biggest athletic programs ever undertaken by a similar organization in Wisconsin.

The meeting, which was held in St. Paul school here, was under direction of President Herbert Voeks, Appleton. Practically every kind of sport that calls for clean, active competition will be held with tournaments in various sections of the state. Committees on basketball, bowling, billiards, baseball and tennis were appointed to work out plans for immediate action.

EXPERT MORE TO JOIN

Appleton was represented by three societies, St. Paul, Mt. Olive and St. Matthew. Other members are Shawano, Clintonville, Manawa, New London, Lena, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Kaukauna and Manitowish. Two Rivers and Sheboygan are expected to join, making the association a 12-unit affair. Delegates were present from nearly all of the cities. A constitution was drafted. Among the important matters taken up was the election of Arthur Krueger of New London, vice president, to succeed George Krueger, his brother who is away at school.

The Appleton organization will bowl and play its billiard matches in the insurance building. Basketball games will be in the Y. M. C. A.

NAME 5 COMMITTEES

All committees are to draw up schedules for games and decide where they are to be played. Following are the committees:

Basketball—Ray Nebis, Appleton, chairman, Wilmer Reichen, Appleton, and William Kuohi, Neenah.

Bowling—Reno Doerfler, Appleton, chairman; Fred Milz, Kaukauna, and George Krueger, New London.

Billiards—Elmer Reichen, Appleton.

Street Freak Shows Need Of Name Revision

A Garfield st on the east end and a Garfield pl on the west end is a freak of the present street naming system that has caused confusion to residents and strangers alike on more than one occasion. Recently a physician received a telephone call asking him to come to a certain house "on Garfield." The physician presumed that Garfield st was meant, but on arriving there learned that the call had come from a home on Garfield pl. The mistake might have proved a costly one, had the illness been a more serious one. Had the call been a fire summons, the mistake might have caused additional destruction of property, it was pointed out.

chamman: Walter Thrke, Appleton, and Arthur Kranbauer, Fond du Lac. Tennis—George Waltra, New London, chairman; Theodore Rostr, Kaukauna, and Miss Emily Runzheimer, Appleton.

Baseball—Herbert Schultz, Appleton, chairman and M. A. Jacobs, Manitowish.

It was decided that the basketball tournament was to be held early in the spring and that the winner was to tender a banquet to all members of the association.

St. Paul basketball team will be first to make its debut in the game. A contest is scheduled with Northwester college of Watertown in Appleton Y. M. C. A. for Friday night.

St. Paul will play another game with New London in the "Y" gym and has a return game scheduled in New London for Jan. 24.

George Wolfarth of Kaukauna is secretary-treasurer of the organization. The officer, together with Fred Milz of Kaukauna, comprise a special board which takes up matters of importance arising before regular meetings.

HOW THINGS STARTED

According to President Voeks, the athletic association had its inception about three years ago. It then included a few cities with a basketball program only. It was the custom for the leading team at the end of the season to tender a banquet to the other members. When the basketballers met to dine at the expense of the New London champions last spring the idea of broadening out was suggested.

U. S. SEEKS COAL FACTS TO PREVENT ANOTHER CRISIS

Chamber Of Commerce Will Obtain Data For Federal Commission Here

Appleton Chamber of Commerce has been called upon to make a coal supply and price survey which will become part of an array of facts to be used by the United States coal commission in devising a way to avert a national crisis such as was caused by the coal strike this summer.

Figures are wanted from public utility companies, retailers of coal and industrial consumers for the week of Nov. 19 to 25 on carload lots of anthracite and bituminous coal showing amounts received, consumed or sold, wholesale price, freight and total average cost by the ton. A supply of questionnaire blanks has been received for use in compiling the data. Reports are to be submitted in Washington by Dec. 27.

Cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States was asked by the federal coal commission in obtaining this information. The national president, Julius H. Barnes, therefore has issued a letter to all local chambers asking for the coal price and supply facts.

It is stated that the inside workings of the coal industry are to be studied to learn causes for a strike so widespread as the recent one. Some way is to be formulated that will prevent a recurrence of the hardship of a fuel shortage, with its suffering to the people and in some cases causing death.

DIX HARWOOD TO SPEAK AT JOURNALIST MEETING

Dix Harwood, journalism professor at Lawrence college, will be one of the speakers at the convention of American Teachers of Journalism in Chicago during the Christmas recess. He will go into the subject of teaching copy editing.

A convention on educational publicity will be held at the same time. Mr.

Harwood will represent the Harwood-Lawrence Press bureau, the organization which handles Lawrence college publicity. The Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern university will be host to both conventions.

130 MEMBERSHIPS IN TRAIL BODY ARE ALLOTTED COUNTY

Appleton Man Assists In Division Of Yellowstone Trail Expense

Appleton will provide 120 memberships and Dale and Medina 5 each under the new plan of financing promotion of the Yellowstone trail, according to allotments made by a special committee for this purpose at a meeting in the Republican house, Milwaukee, Saturday. The membership fee is $5.

Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary of the chamber of commerce, is a member of the committee and attended the meeting. Others present were Mayor Rumlley of Hudson; A. L. Putnam, Chippewa Falls, E. T. Markle, Fond du Lac, and Ray L. Smith and Frank Cleveland, Milwaukee. H. O. Cooley, Minneapolis, managing director of Yellowstone Trail Association, Inc., also assisted in allotting memberships to cities and towns along the trail.

Cities were grouped in five classes according to population, with Appleton in class C and Dale and Medina in class E. This division then was made as equitably as possible according to benefit derived from the trail.

Fond du Lac and Stevens Point, in the same class with Appleton, each are to obtain 120 members and Eau Claire is assigned 160. Milwaukee is allotted 500, Oshkosh, 175 and Neenah and Menasha, 80 each.

Local committees which will be in charge of securing memberships among business men will show that this association is the only advertising Wisconsin to tourists outside of this state. Registrations of people using that trail totaled 19,000 last season at the Chicago bureau and not less than 1,000 were recorded here.

FEW EXAMINED FOR POLICE, FIRE JOBS

Only one applicant for policeman and three for fireman took the examinations conducted by the fire and police commission in the city hall Saturday afternoon. A much larger list of applications had been on file, however.

The applicant for policeman was Frank Johnson, and those taking the fireman examination were Ray Muttart, Leo J. Bartlein and Guy Brazill.

It was supposed that the other applicants were either out of the city or had no means of coming to the city hall Saturday afternoon. Should there be men who would like to take the examination during some evening, the commission might arrange for a suitable date, Secretary D. E. Vaughn announced.

Applicants for positions in the fire department will be examined in such matters as the location of principal streets and public buildings, simple arithmetic and other subjects.

EXPECT PLANS FOR NEW BRIDGES WILL BE HERE THIS WEEK

Engineers Estimate Cost Of Cherry And Lawe-st Projects At $266,800

or 41 feet wide over all. Paving of the bridge floor it is said, is included in the plans. The bridge will be built to withstand a strain of from 20 to 25 tons, ample for the heaviest kind of vehicular traffic. In order to carry street cars it would be necessary to strengthen the girders and steel beams to carry a weight of 35 tons.

$200,000 FIRST ESTIMATE

The first estimate of the cost of a bridge of this nature was made in March of 1921 and was $200,000 for the completed structure, except the filling in of the approaches. In July, 1922, the architects were asked to make another estimate and this time they figured the cost of the same kind of a bridge at $150,000. The big reduction was due to a sharp cut in the price of steel. In July, 1922, steel beams were selling at $2.58 per hundred pounds while the price, now is $3.02 indicating that the estimate Wednesday night will be slightly higher than the July figures but probably will not reach $175,000. If the bridge is built to carry street cars it will cost more than $185,000.

That is for the bare cost of the bridge. The land for the approach on the north side has been offered to the city by A. W. Priest and therefore there will be no expense there. The right-of-way for opening streets on the south side must be acquired, however. Land necessary for opening a road 80 feet wide from the end of the bridge to Foster-st is assessed at $612. If the property owners demand double or triple its assessed value the cost will not exceed $1,800 for the right-of-way for the street. In March, 1921, it was estimated that a concrete pavement, 24 feet wide on the newly opened street would cost $31,945. Prices since then have decreased and it now is believed the pavement can be built for not more than $29,000.

$211,800 IS TOTAL COST

The cost of filling in the approaches still remains. Engineers estimate that if the new street to be opened in the Fourth ward is paved the surplus dirt can be used in filling in the approaches and the cost of doing the work probably will not exceed three or four thousand dollars. If the earth must be obtained elsewhere it will cost from $5,000 to $6,000 to build up the approaches, it is said. These are the principal items in the Cherry-st bridge plan. They include the cost of the bridge, approximately $175,000; cost of getting right-of-way for new street, $1,800; cost of paving, $29,000; cost of filling in approaches, $6,000, making a total of $211,800 for the project.

THE LAW-ST BRIDGE

The Cherry-st proposition is linked up with the Law-st plan and it is probable that if one bridge is built the other also will be ordered. The most recent estimate for a semi-low level bridge across the Fox river,

Her City's Pride

Elizabeth Bayless, 18-year-old high school student, has entered the hall of fame in Clarksburg, W. Va., where she was proclaimed the most beautiful girl, possessing all the characteristics of Southern loveliness. "As demure, sweet and pretty as the girls of grandma's day," said the Clarksburg city fathers.

starting about in the middle of the Lawest hill and running on a slight angle to Vulcan-st in the neighborhood of $45,000. To this must be added the cost of filling in the approaches on both sides of the river which will make the cost approximately $55,000. The cost of both projects then will be about $266,800. It is entirely possible that Vulcan-st and the south end of Lawest must be paved in a year or so to make the Lawest bridge really serviceable.

The city of Appleton now has $100,000 in its treasury to apply on the cost of these two bridge projects. The council has included $75,000 in the coming tax levy for bridges, making $175,000 available early next year. This will leave between $50,000 and $100,000 still to be raised and it is understood the council contemplates putting at least a large part of that sum in the next tax levy.

NOTED ENGINEERS

That probably is as near accurate a description of the Cherry and Lawest bridge propositions that can be offered at this time. Details of construction and the latest estimate of the architects will not be available until after the plans arrive. Harrington, Howard and Ash are considered among the most prominent and successful bridge builders in the world. They have constructed bridges in almost every state in the Union and in a dozen foreign countries. Their contracts have run as high as $2,000,000 and some of their bridges are considered remarkable engineering feats, it is said.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Peterson and children of Brooklyn, N. Y., arrived in Appleton Sunday night to spend several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Peterson, 407 Pacific-st.

LIVE CLEAN LIVES. DR. HALL PLEADS

Noted Hygiene Speaker Impresses Several Audiences
In Talks Here

Dr. Winfield Scott Hall of Northwestern university, Chicago, addressed a group of men and older boys on sex hygiene Saturday evening in the assembly room of the Y. M. C. A., talking for his subject, "The Building of an Athlete." He spoke for nearly an hour and his talk was so instructive that those present kept him busy answering questions for an additional half hour.

Sunday morning, Dr. Hall gave a talk before a combined meeting of the men and boys classes of the Presbyterian Sunday school. His subject was, "Father and Son." He emphasized a father's responsibility to his son and said the two should be chums and the boy should be taught the lessons of life before he picks them up on the street in a wrong way.

TALKS TO BOYS

He advised the boys to lead a clean life in order to grow to manhood as strong men and to be chivalrous towards girls and women. He emphasized one standard of morality for men and women.

At 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Dr. Hall addressed 60 boys on the "Making of an Athlete" in the boys' division of the Y. M. C. A., talking for about 40 minutes.

Dr. Hall also talked to 25 girls at Appleton Women's club on Sunday afternoon as a father would talk to his daughters. The subject of his talk was the urging of the girls to make their appeal through their personality not through their person. He said that personality was mind plus spirit, while person was just physical being. If a girl makes her appeal through her personality she is safe, but if she appeals through her person she must take the consequences sooner or later, according to the doctor.

CARS ARE DAMAGED IN TWO CRASHES SATURDAY

Two automobile collisions on Saturday resulted in minor damages to two of the cars involved. A crash between the car of Irving Weiss, 1194 Harris-st, and that of Mons Borrsen, Plankrd, Kaukauna, which occurred at Superior-st and Second-ave at about 11 o'clock Saturday morning, caused a punctured tire on a wheel of the latter car. The car on the Weiss car also was damaged.

The right front wheel of the automobile of John Lavender, Kimberly, was thrown out of line when his car collided at 11 o'clock Saturday evening at Appleton-st and College-ave with that of Roland Piper, 145 Wilson-st, Madison. The other car was not damaged. No injuries resulted in either accident.

Dr. and Mrs. D. J. O'Connor visited Green Bay friends Sunday.

Cleveland, O. — The wrecking tug Favorite left White Fish Bay Lake Superior early Monday for Lizard Island to continue the search for 27 persons missing from the Tug Reliance since last Wednesday, according to wireless advices received here by H. SHIPS PUSH AHEAD

Bay City, Mich. — The fleet of nine steamships grain laden bound for Lake Erie ports which left Fort William Friday night, passed through St. Marys River Sunday and early today entered Lake Huron on the way down. The ships and their cargoes are worth $38,000,000.

Duluth — The local United States naval radio station Monday picked up parts of a wireless message believed to have been broadcast from Cleveland advising of the distress of a ship on Lake Superior. The message as received here was vague because of the heavy weather, but the wireless operator interpreted it to mean that vessel captains should be on the lookout for a ship in distress.

FIANCEE OF SLAIN MILLIONAIRE

a receipt for the consignment having been given by J. E. Olson, according to Director Grant.

Emerging from the front entrance of the mint, the guards and men carrying the money were met with the command to "throw up your hands." At the same time the command was given the two bandits who had left their car started firing. At the first shot Linton fell wounded. The bandits continued their firing at the windows in the second story of the mint as though to keep employees inside from rushing to the windows and opening fire on the robbers.

As soon as the firing started, Director Grant, who was in his office in front of the building and in view of the robbers, sounded the general alarm.

Employees of the mint are equipped with shotguns and are instructed to rush to the front of the building at the first sound of alarm.

Acting under these orders, employees sprang to the front windows and opened fire on the fleeing men. John R. Herschman was driven from the mint window by the firing of the bandits. A. E. Mowbray, another mint guard, fired twice from the second story window and is believed to have inflicted the wound on one of the bandits as he entered the waiting car. Persons in stores across the street from the mint were attracted to the sidewalks by sounds of the shots but were forced to retreat and seek cover.

MOST SALARIES IN RURAL SCHOOLS OF COUNTY ABOVE $100

Half Receive $110—Minimum Paid In Rural Schools Is $75

Approximately two-thirds of the teachers in the schools of Outagamie county under the jurisdiction of the county superintendent received salaries of more than $100 a month for the previous school year, according to the annual school report of Superintendent Florence S. Jenkins.

Practically one-half of the teachers received salaries higher than $110 a month. No salary exceeded $200 and the minimum was $75 a month. Salaries paid high school teachers other than those of Appleton, Kaukauna and New London, were between $110 and $200. Teachers of grades below high schools received from $90 to $130 a month; state graded school teachers received from $90 to $130, and rural school teachers received from $75 to $130. More than one-half of the rural school teachers received salaries between $100 and $130.

The detailed table of salaries is as follows:

U. S. WON'T SCRAP GREAT LAKES PLANT

Appropriation For Training Station Precludes Abandonment

Great Lakes naval training station will be saved for the middle west according to advice received by the chamber of commerce from Edmund F. Dodge, Chicago, secretary of the committee of business men of midwestern states who have been fighting for this object.

Belief that the government will not abandon this inland training center is based on the report of the subcommittee on navy appropriations, which recommends to congress that $250,000 be appropriated for maintenance of the Great Lakes station. This information was wired to Chicago by D. L. Goodrich, Washington, chairman of the committee to save the camp.

Continuance of appeals to senators and congressmen is urged, however, so that congress will not cut down the appropriation and defeat the committee's aim.

Appleton Chamber of Commerce indulged retention of the Great Lakes plant for the benefit of boys of the middle west who enlist and assisted in the fight to bring about the resulting action.

ONE-LIGHT DRIVING HELD INEXCUSABLE

Police Warn Drivers Against Inviting Accidents Through Negligence

The habit of driving an automobile with only one light is fast developing into a widespread menace to the public safety. In the opinion of police there is no plausible excuse for the fault, which is a direct violation of the traffic laws. It is quite impossible to prove that the driver does not notice the missing light, it is said. This growing habit is due only to carelessness, police say. Every driver should take proper safeguards by providing himself with an extra light for just such emergencies as these. Broken lenses also should be repaired at once.

Recently a collision occurred on a country road near here between an automobile and a motorcycle on account of there being only one light on the automobile and none on the motorcycle. One of the men was seriously injured as a result. Chief George T. Prim is issuing an appeal to all drivers that in respect to public safety they take all necessary precaution and avoid driving with but one light burning.

More Than Million Will Flow Into County From U.S. To Redeem War Securities

Holders Of Victory Bonds And War Savings Stamps Are Cautioned To Beware Of Poor Investment Of Money They Receive

"Victory 4 1/2's 100.31" This appeared in the last line of the column of stock market quotations the last day of two. What a remarkable contrast to the nomenclature of the days when the air was filled with martial music, when hopes ran high, hearts beat wildly and faces were flushed with the victory of a dozen battles!

Four times the material resources of the nation had been marshaled forth in support of the men in arms. And then the mantle of peace, having again descended upon a war torn and blood-stained earth, money began to flow once more from the pockets of millions as a "final test of citizenship" and by way of "matching the sacrifice" of the men who did not return.

It seemed there was no limit to the moneyed reserve in those days. That was a little more than three years ago. The people returned to ply their trade in their peace tasks and—present—the hard-earned shekels began to flit. Somehow or other we have never seen very many of them since. Purse strings that had almost become worn with much handling now could not be pried open with crowbars—if the observation of the soldier's bonus advocates are correct.

SOME SOLD BONDS
Meanwhile the Liberty firsts, seconds, thirds, and fourths, not to forget the Victory four and three fourths became the elusive objects in the game known as "hassing the buck." It was a case of "now you see them and now you don't." Smooth-voiced stock promoters persuaded a good many Liberty bondholders that they were the possessors of some sort of "white elephant." Just what the purchasers wanted them for did not give the sellers much concern.

There remained however, a healthy majority that was not so easy to fool. They heard the advice of the government to "hang on," and having on they did. When they heard reports of above and below par and other meaningless expressions, they ceased their minds simply by refusing to read the bond quotations, knowing that "to him that hath shall be given." Somewhere in a bureau drawer or cotton sock reposed the documents backed by the government's I. O. U. The interest they yielded was not at all discouraging.

Come now the day of reckoning which shows that these obstinate persons were not nearly half so infinitely removed from the light. Not many months ago there stared them in the face the announcement that the United States treasury department is about to recall the Victory bonds, series A to F. Banks began to receive the bonds for redemption.

REDEEM PART
On Friday, Dec. 15, just as announced, the coffers of the treasury were opened to permit the efflux of the money that three years ago had "in fluxed." (Your money will not be at the bank for several days or perhaps weeks.)

Just what the redemption of Victory bonds of this series will mean to Outagamie co. and Appleton bondholders is by no means a small matter. In the spring of 1919 a total of $1,836,450 was sold of this issue here. It is probable that one-half of this amount represents the series that is now to be redeemed. Possibly one-third of the redeemable money of this country will go or, it might be said, should go to Appleton residents. The condition is that they have not already disposed of these bonds. In that case someone else will redeem them. That is not all. At the close of this holiday period another large amount of money will be redeemed in this country. It is the 1918 series of war saving stamps, of which approximately $770,000 were sold in the country. Some of this has already been redeemed, yet the remainder may still reach $500,000.

HOW INVEST?

After the money has been sufficiently fondled like a long lost something—what future will be in store for it? It will be too late to invest in Christmas presents. Possibly only a tongue-tied stock salesman will be waiting outside the banks and the postoffice looking their chops over the hoodle they hope to get. Will it be reinvested in government securities? Or will it be added to the savings laid aside toward the purchase of a home?

As far as the postoffice is concerned, it was stated there, it will bring no pressure to bear upon the stampholders. The postmaster has frequently advised the owners of these securities to reinvest them in interest-bearing treasury savings certificates, and many persons have already heeded the advice. Although

BLANKS ARE ISSUED FOR 1923 AUTO LICENSES

Upward of 800 blanks in the state, including those of Appleton, together with all county clerks have received a supply of automobile license application cards for 1923 licenses. These blanks have been mailed to the bank that handles them for the convenience of their rural patrons.

Beginning with the 1st of December these applications will be received at the secretary of state's office at Madison at the rate of 5,000 a day and a large corps of workers is needed to fill the applications.

The war savings stamps will not be redeemable until after Jan. 1, their owners are already converting them into treasury savings stamps.

WISE ONES HELD ON

"The persons who are about to redeem their Victory bonds are not likely to fall a prey to the wildest stock speculations," it was the opinion of a local banker. "It is only the ultra-conservative investors who have purchased these bonds and held them until now. They will be the ones to reinvest them in a conservative way by buying more government securities or Municipal bonds or placing the money in bank savings accounts."

Other bankers, expressing the same opinion, nevertheless caution the bondholders against purchase of worthless stock. Investors should beware especially of stock promising get-rich-quick dividends. They should, to take the path of safety, first consult their bankers before plunging into any precarious speculation.

A fire was discovered in the roof of the Lutheran school building Thursday but prompt action not only extinguished it but sent the pupils back to their studies just when the prospect of a "vacation" looked good. The loss was nominal.

POSTAGE STAMP DEALERS EXPECT GOOD BUSINESS

By Associated Press
Paris—The Ferrari sale of postage stamps, which has brought hundreds of collectors to the city, is by far the largest sale ever recorded in Paris. Many of the stamps are bringing record prices, and the bidding is spirited. More interest has been shown in stamp collecting since the war than ever before, according to dealers, and with the return to normal times the popularity among amateurs is expected to make huge profits for the traders.

LAWRENCE TAKES BASKETBALL GAME FROM POINTERS

Normalites Succumb To Better Shots; College Wins By 25 To 19 Score

Lawrentians Lack Team Work But Have Many Good Basket Shooters — Teachers Stage Strong Rally

Lawrence college got a good start in the basketball season this year when it defeated Stevens Point normal Saturday night in the Armory by a score of 25 to 19, but at the same time left the impression with the school followers that the team will have to improve a great deal if it is to have a place in the battle for the state title.

The Lawrentians played as individuals rather than as a team and permitted the Normalites to have the ball a great deal of the time. Only the "unlucky" shots by the Teachers in the first half averted a big score in favor of the visitors.

USE MANY SUBS
Both quint used many subs and changed their players often. There was not an individual star on the Lawrence team, although the most points were scored by Kotal, Basing and Grover played the best game for the Lawrentians, while Nornington a former Lawrence man, was the star for the Stevens Point five.

Kotal proved to be best in free throws although he missed several "chances to score were thrown away by Basing, who also took a hand in free throws. The Normalites showed that they needed a great deal of practice in shooting, but they played a fast passing game. They too, were weak in their defensive work.

Lawrence started well. In the first few seconds of play Kotal shot a close range basket and a little later made two free throws. Sund, Grover and Basing shot two baskets each and Christoph got one. Lawrence piled up 19 points at the end of the first half and Stevens Point, 11. Davis got two baskets and St. Claire made three free throws. The Normalites easily led in the playing for the first half and shot from all angles, only to fall short of the basket.

With a big score against them the Normalites came back strong. Both colleges used substitutes every few minutes. Baskets were made in the second half for Stevens Point by G. Holman, two by Nornington, two by Barnette and one by Cramer. Cramer's shot was the feature of the game. It was thrown from the middle of the floor and dropped through the net.

Collings who went in for Sund, and Zussman who went in for Hulbert got the baskets for Lawrence in the final period of play. The other basket was made by Kotal.

Coach McChesney was in Chicago for the Midwest conference and did not direct the team.

Some more record smashing scores were chalked down on the Olympic alleys Friday night in the matches between the Bohl & Maeger and Princess Candy teams of the Olympic bowling league. Both teams shot more than 2,700 pins for the totals. A start of 1,019 pins in the first game gave the Princess some figures that are hard to beat. The Princess team took two games.

Midwest Conference Votes To Enforce Freshman Rule

WOULD CUT OFF YEARLINGS FROM FOOTBALL TEAMS

Law, However, Has Tail To It — Must Be Ratified By Faculties

Freshmen will not be able to play on the football teams of the Midwest conference schools beginning next September if the rule passed at the conference meeting in Chicago is ratified by the faculties of the eight schools, members of the conference.

The new rule was adopted 7 to 1 after a long discussion with Milliken of Decatur, Ill., voting against. The schools voting for the enforcement rule were Lawrence, Appleton, Coe, Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Cornell, Mt. Vernon, Ia.; Hamilton, St. Paul; Beloit, Wis.; and Knox, Galesburg, Ill.

LAWRENCE PRESENT

Coach H. D. McChesney and Dr. J. H. Farley represented Lawrence college. The meeting took place in the Sherman hotel.

Despite the vote for the enforcement of the freshmen rule, it is apparent that the delegates at the conference were not entirely wholehearted for it. The fact that it was left for the faculties to ratify it means the virtual "passing of the buck." The principal instigators for the freshmen rule were Coe and Cornell who at present have an agreement not to use freshmen. These schools were backed by George Huff, athletic director of the University of Illinois, who was present at the meeting and urged the delegates to enforce the law.

Mr. Huff's arguments for the freshmen rule is in line with the policy advocated by all big schools who refrain from using yearlings on the varsity squads.

GO TO SMALLER SCHOOLS

With freshmen allowed to play on the smaller schools and colleges many athletes are going to the colleges instead of the bigger schools so as to get a crack at the athletics immediately after leaving high school.

Lawrence delegates told the conference that they were highly in favor of the rule if all schools abided by it otherwise Lawrence would not be able to live up to it.

WANT TO JOIN

Representatives from two schools made applications to join the Midwest conference. These were from Duquesne and Lake Forest. However the conference voted to delay the applications for the time being, not desiring to increase its present program for another year.

A tentative basketball program for this year and a tentative football schedule for next year was worked out. Lawrence which made a two year contract a year ago with other Midwest members, will have practically the same schedule that it had this season.

Though Coach McChesney attempted to sign basketball games with Coe and Cornell, it was discovered that the only open dates left conflicted with examinations at the institutions.

The third annual track meet will be held at Knox or Coe the last Saturday or Friday in May. There was no election of officers as the matter will be taken up at another meeting in spring.

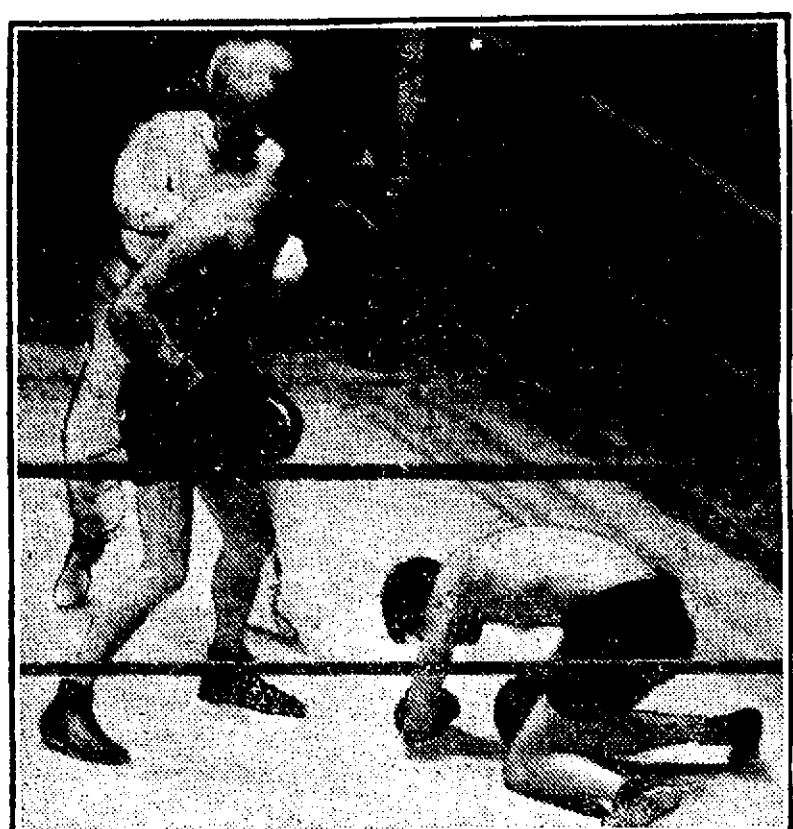

JOY GETS CHANCE WITH HILL AT NICHOLS; LOSES

Because of an injury to his arm, Young Romanoff of Gary, Ind., was unable to wrestle with George Hill of Appleton Saturday night at Nichols.

In order not to disappoint the fair sized house that came to see the Appleton grappler in action, Promoter Elmer Johnston matched "Kid" Joy, the former west coast sensation who is now making his home at Menasha.

Joy recently challenged Hill but the Menasha mat artist was not a real match for Hill. Hill got two falls via the body scissors and bar arm. The first fall came in 19 minutes and the second in eleven. Joy was game but was too light.

ALLOUEZ ROMP OFF WITH THREE GAMES

Only Quint In Foresters League To Stage Shut-out

The Allouez quint of the Foresters league was the only unit to cop three straight games in the matches Sunday afternoon on the Elk alleys. The Sacred Heart team was the victim.

A rather close contest was rolled between Marquette and the Columbia bowlers. The Columbia men took two games.

For once the Loos had a narrow call. Although taking two games from the De Soto players, the Loos had but a slight lead on the totals.

The De Soto bowlers pulled up 2,524 pins while the Loos gathered 2,561. A postgame tilt between the De Soto bowlers and the Sacred Heart team ended in a tie. The first game went to the De Soto ten pin knights and the last to the Sacred Heart team. The second game was 714 a piece.

ZWICK HEADLINES MILWAUKEE CARD; MEETS BURNS AGAIN

Kaukauna Fighter Going Strong — Has Great Future If He Makes Good Monday

Milwaukee—Battling Zwick of Kaukauna, who looks like a Stanley Ketchel in ring action, headlines the Milwaukee boxing club's fistie program at the Empress theater Monday night in a return round bout with Bill Burns, late of Duluth. Zwick and Burns did their stuff at the last Auditorium show and after Bill had piled up a lead on points in the first six rounds, Zwick proceeded to kiss him on the button and knock him for a trip.

Zwick should be quite an attraction in Milwaukee in a few months. In his few bouts here he has convinced the fans that he is a true fighting man and the local devotees enjoy watching an individual like the Barber in action. Fighters are not born every day with the Zwick stuff and whenever an exponent hops up, the crowd is sure to follow him.

The matchmakers of the Milwaukee club are supporting the Zwick Burns battle with a ten rounder between Jimmy Nuss, the Peor slugger, and Eddie Mulloney of Akron, O.

A six round preliminary between Gene Gannon and Joe Azarelli, and a four round curtain raiser involving Red Cole and Bob Summers completes the Monday night card.

PRINTING SILENT LETTERS COSTLY TO PUBLICATIONS

London—French is known to be a language replete with letters silent so far as pronunciation is concerned; English also has a goodly number of examples of lettering regarded in some quarters as wasteful. Strike out every letter and symbol not essential in each language, and the total of the yearly printing bills in both countries could be reduced by $40,000,000.

This computation has been made by French and English statisticians with time on their hands and an interest in the bizzaro.

In the periodicals published in France it was found that 108,000,000 letters are used yearly whereas 10 per cent are useless. Cutting these aside would reduce French printing costs by $2,500,000.

The Pin Getters pushed themselves up from third place although they took but a single game from the White Sox who went into third place. The Zealandown Stars and the Giants changed places.

Kaukauna Fighter Going Strong — Has Great Future If He Makes Good Monday

Milwaukee—Battling Zwick of Kaukauna, who looks like a Stanley Ketchel in ring action, headlines the Milwaukee boxing club's fistie program at the Empress theater Monday night in a return round bout with Bill Burns, late of Duluth. Zwick and Burns did their stuff at the last Auditorium show and after Bill had piled up a lead on points in the first six rounds, Zwick proceeded to kiss him on the button and knock him for a trip.

Zwick should be quite an attraction in Milwaukee in a few months. In his few bouts here he has convinced the fans that he is a true fighting man and the local devotees enjoy watching an individual like the Barber in action. Fighters are not born every day with the Zwick stuff and whenever an exponent hops up, the crowd is sure to follow him.

The matchmakers of the Milwaukee club are supporting the Zwick Burns battle with a ten rounder between Jimmy Nuss, the Peor slugger, and Eddie Mulloney of Akron, O.

A six round preliminary between Gene Gannon and Joe Azarelli, and a four round curtain raiser involving Red Cole and Bob Summers completes the Monday night card.

PRINTING SILENT LETTERS COSTLY TO PUBLICATIONS

London—French is known to be a language replete with letters silent so far as pronunciation is concerned; English also has a goodly number of examples of lettering regarded in some quarters as wasteful. Strike out every letter and symbol not essential in each language, and the total of the yearly printing bills in both countries could be reduced by $40,000,000.

This computation has been made by French and English statisticians with time on their hands and an interest in the bizzaro.

Triumphs of M. Jonquelle

"The Master sat by his table; he was straining forward, his hands gripping the arms of his chair. His eyes and every tense instinct of the man were concentrated on the fire place. The red light of the embers was in the room. I could see him clearly, and the table beyond him with the calculations; but the fire placed seemed strangely out of perspective—it extended above me.

My gift to the Master, not more than four hand-breaths in length, including the base, stood now like an immense bronze on an extended marble slab beside a gigantic fire place. This effect of extension put the top of the fireplace and the enlarged andron, above its pedestal, out of my line of vision. Everything else in the chamber, holding its normal dimensions, was visible to me.

"I have said, Excellency, that my angle of vision along the crevice of the door sill was sharply cut midway of this now enlarged fireplace. From the direction and lift of the Master's face, he was watching something above this line and directly over the pedestal of the andron. I watched, also, flattening my face against the wall, for the thing to appear.

"And it did appear.

"A naked foot became slowly visible, as though someone were descending with extreme care from the elevation of the andron to the great marble hearth, under this strange enlargement, now some distance below."

"The big Oriental paused, and looked down at me.

"I knew then, Excellency, that the Master was lost. The creative energies of the spirit suffer no division of worship; those of the body must be wholly denied. I had warned the Master. And in travail, Excellency, I turned over with my face to the floor.

"But there is always hope, hope over the certainties of experience, over the certainties of knowledge. Perhaps the Master, even now, sustained in the spirit, would put away the devotion. . . . No, Excellency, I was not misled. I knew the Master was beyond hope! But the will to hope moved me, and I turned back to the crevice at the door sill."

"There was now a delicate odor, everywhere, faintly like the blossom of the little bitter apple here in your country. The red embers in the fireplace gave out a steady light; and in the glow of it, on the marble hearth, stood the one who had descended from the elevation of the andron."

"Again the man hesitated, as for an accurate method of expression.

"In the flesh, Excellency, there was color that would not appear in the image. The hair was yellow, and the eyes were blue, against the black marble of the fireplace the body was conspicuously white.

"But in every other aspect of her, Excellency, the woman was on the height in the flesh as she is in the clutch of the savage male figure in the image.

"There is no dress or ornament, as you will recall, Excellency. Not even an earring or an anklet, as though the inherent beauty of his figure could take nothing from these ostentations.

"The woman's heavy, yellow hair was wound around her head, as in the image. She shivered a little faintly, like a naked child in an unaccustomed draught of air, although she stood on the warm, marble hearth and within the red glow of the fire.

"The voice from the male figure of the image, which I had brought the Master, and which stood as the andron, now so immensely enlarged, was beginning again to speak. The thin metallic sound seemed to splinter against the dense silence, as it went forward in the ritual prescribed.

"But the Master had already decided, he stood now on the great marble hearth with his papers crushed together. And as I looked on, through the crevice under the door sill, he put out his free hand and with his finger touched the woman gently. The flesh under his finger yielded, and glooping over, he put the formula into the fire."

"Like one who has come to the end of his story, the huge Oriental stopped. He remained for some moments silent. Then he continued in an even, monotonous voice.

Globe Trotter
Picked To Head
Y.W.C.A. Drive

BY MARIAN HALE

The leading woman globe trotter of this country, Mrs. Arthur Curtis James of New York, has been selected by the Young Women's Christian Association to head the nationwide campaign for $350,000 to assure its home and foreign program.

Mrs. James, who has crossed the ocean 20 times, has just returned from a cruise around the world with her husband, Commodore James, in their yacht.

"From September to June we never ceased to marvel at what America is doing around the world," she explained, "and how much of the work in foreign lands is carried on by the young women of the association."

"The very best American ideals are being passed on to the women of India, Japan and China, and at the same time the best that is the heritage of their own lands is retained."

"In Japan I noticed that although American secretaries are teaching Japanese girls American ways they are not making Americans out of them or introducing flapper styles. The Japanese girls appear at all functions in the picturesque kimonos of their own land."

"Yokohama and Tokyo are anxious to take over their own leadership and with a little more help will be able to. In Singapore, Burma, Calcutta, Bombay and other Indian cities the association is developing native leaders."

"Honolulu has a thriving association, but needs a training school to prepare for leadership hundreds of girls who are eager to enter the work."

"In the Philippines we missed the friendly blue triangle and part of the work we expect to raise from the campaign will go toward developing that field. Also, we want to start operations in Russia where there is at present a great need."

"The work of the Young Women's Christian Association is now being carried on in 47 countries, and not one of these would abandon it."

Adventures Of
The Twins

Flap-Doodle Becomes A Donkey

"Well, my dears," said the pretended wizard, rubbing his hands together and bowing and scraping until his long beard touched "the ground."

"What can I do to serve you?"

"Please, sir," said Nancy, never dreaming that she was talking to Flap-Doodle himself. "We are hunting for the Fairy Queen's wand. Flap-Doodle stole it. Can you help us?"

"Sure," declared the pretended wizard. "I'll just call my pet donkey, and he'll take you anywhere you wish to go. Flap-Doodle cannot be far away."

"Oh, we don't need a donkey," declared Nick. "We have our magic Green Shoes which will take us anywhere."

"Flap-Doodle, or I should say, the pretended wizard, shook his head. 'No good,' said he. 'Your Green Shoes wouldn't know the way. If you don't go on Hee-Haw, you can't go at all. Hee-Haw is my donkey. That's his name.'"

"All right, thank you," said Nancy then. "We'll go. The Fairy Queen's wand has been lost for ever and ever so long, and we must hurry up and find it."

The pretended wizard looked up slyly at the stick his parrot was perched on. Little did the Twins think that it was the very thing they were looking for.

Honeymooner's Abroad

Chapter 21 — Vamp Fails to Camp

By Zoe Beckley

In London that night Jack was entering his hotel room, worn out but excited. He had been under a tremendous nervous strain. On the one hand, as Cousins had said over the cross-channel telephone to Stanley, he was preparing the shroud for Cousins' position as European manager. Two or three more days, and the chain of evidence of the man's crookedness and treachery would be complete.

Across the ocean, one of the vice presidents of the American Electric Supply Corporation was speeding to take charge of the situation. Every thing pointed to a successful culmination of the mission on which Jack had been sent abroad. Reward would be sure. Promotion, increase in salary.

But he had not heard from Edna for several days. Not one word in reply to his three letters. He knew she was resentful of being dragged away from sightseeing at the highest of his mission. But that did not excuse her for lack of loyalty. She should have had a thought for his peace of mind—this man of his, that belonged to the firm which was paying him a more than comfortable salary and financing their trip abroad.

At a time like this, he needed every thought to concentrate on his work. And here she was, carefree about Paris, not even thinking of him—

Go West For Your Thrills,
Hiker Advises

BY MARIAN HALE

Long ago Horace Greeley advised young men to go west for opportunities, and today Adelaide Wilson urges all young women intent upon romance and thrill to find them in the same geographical location.

Miss Wilson was born and reared in Newark, N. J., but she grew tired of the east and interested five of her friends in taking a hike to San Francisco and back.

Tired but intact, the hikers reached Denver. Then two girls were willing to take a Pullman back to Newark. Two others took a train to Hollywood, hoping for motion picture engagements. The remaining pair, of which Miss Wilson was one went to San Francisco by foot. There Miss Wilson's companion felt the urge for a transcontinental trip by train, and Miss Wilson hiked back alone.

HER ADVENTURES

Some of the little adventures she recommends of honest excitement are: A chase by a herd of maddened steers.

A marathon in which a large bear is one of the contestants.

An attack on a mountain top from two large mountain eagles.

Being lost in a blizzard on Pike's Peak.

Being lost in Yellowstone Park and just occupying a scolding from Old Faithful.

An attack from hold-up men.

For minor thrills she joined a motion picture company in Yellowstone Park and doubled in several particularly difficult stunts for the leading lady. The best adventure of all was meeting the typical westerner whom she later promised to marry.

On the trip she walked about 10,000 miles and wore out five pairs of hobnailed 15-inch boots and six pairs of Indian moccasins. She wore knickers and carried 50 pounds of luggage on her back.

Being lost made the trip to get material for a book "I'm going to write," she explains. "I wanted to see all parts of the country and know all the people."

"In the west everyone was delightfully cordial and friendly, glad to give us a lift and apparently appreciated the spirit of our adventure."

In the east the people made remarks about our hiking costume and regarded us as freaks.

"I think the western girl is much superior to the eastern. She is more resourceful. She can ride, swim, shoot and take care of herself as well as can do practically any work a man can do. Her complexion is wonderful and her figure is beautiful."

"In the east girls go to movies, theaters or read novels for their thrills. Out west they live them."

Miss Wilson expects to return to the west as soon as she buys her trousseau and will live on a ranch in Wyoming.

In spite of her enthusiasm for the west, she admitted it was well to be within commuting distance of New York when buying a wedding outfit.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

You will not, while traveling on a train, open a window if it will cause discomfort to others. You will not spread your baggage in the aisle where others may trip over it.

Once settled you will not converse loudly at family matters nor criticize absent persons.

In traveling on a sleeping car you will, if your berth is a lower one, be entitled to the seat facing forward, if an upper one, you will occupy the seat facing backward.

Jack stared, speechless. Then suddenly he broke into a roar of nervous laughter.

Bridegroom Asks
Dowry Increase;
Remains Bachelor

Lodz, Poland—Dowry bidding for a bride figured in a recent wedding at the border town of Bialystok, according to news brought here by guests returning from the nuptials.

At the hour fixed for the ceremony, the bridegroom failed to put in an appearance. The young bride, her attendants and the guests waited away a long period of waiting with dances and conversation. Finally, at 11 p. m., a message arrived from the missing principal, saying he would conclude the marriage only on condition that the dowry were increased 50 per cent.

For a time it looked as if there would be no wedding, and the guests prepared to depart. But the day was saved when one of the young men present rose to the occasion by announcing he would marry the young lady without the "bonus" demanded. His offer was accepted and the wedding took place.

The original bridegroom, having undergone a change of heart, appeared just as the benediction was being pronounced but was, of course, obliged to return home a bachelor.

Modes

The strong tendency throughout the collection of models assigned by the Parisian dress-makers towards a silhouette which follows closely the natural lines, reaches, in most definite expression in the evening gowns. Many of them would mold the figure as closely as possible, and there is no longer that cult of slenderness which will lose any of its adherents, for slimmest will be more appreciated than ever. The perfectly straight chemise, however, which has been so often described as a sack tied in the middle, is absent from the evening mode as it is from daytime fashions. There is "cut" in the evening gowns, be they straight, circular or draped.

An attractive shade for the boudoir lamp may be made of ribbon upon which bits of other ribbon is applied in design.

BOOK HOLDER

A book holder of buckaback or some other serviceable material makes a novel yet inexpensive gift for the feminine commuter who likes to read on the train. It has handles which slip easily over the arm and it may be more or less embroidered.

FOR COLD CREAM

Cold cream jars of porcelain are among the new importations for the dressing table. They take their decorative designs from the friezes of ancient Egypt and may, when emptied, be put to various other attractive uses.

FOR FORMAL DRESS

Rhama brocade is one of the materials qualifying for the more formal type of dress. It is a serpentine crepe with a satin brocade motif and is 40 inches wide.

CAMISOLE BODIES

Separate skirts are quite generally being made with the camisole bodies, instead of inside belts. The skirt fits better for one thing, the waistline does not show through the light-colored blouse for another, and the camisole top also makes it possible to wear a jersey or open-work sweater without the accompanying underhouse.
